Lancasters Foray Deep Into Reich; Ruin Radio Plant

LONDON (CP)—Lancaster bombers penetrated deep into southern Germany Sunday night to attack the Luftschiffbau radio factory at Friedrichshafen and damaged all main buildings, the air ministry announced tonight.
Three bombers were lost. The factory has been making radio location equipment and "is one of the largest of its kind in Germany," the communique said.
"Heavy damage was done."
Swiss dispatches earlier had said the reverberation of bombs shook Swiss houses clear across Lake Constance. The German radio had told also of attacks on the northern part of the Reich.
The air ministry news service said reconnaissance planes had established that more than 1,000 acres of the Barmen section of Wuppertal was devastated in the massive R.A.F.-R.C.A.F. attack May 29.

"There now is almost as much destruction here as there is in Dusseldorf, a town almost twice as large," the ministry said. "No industrial town in Germany has up to the present been so completely wiped off the map."
Great waves of R.A.F. bombers swept out in daylight today to resume their battering of the European continent. A 90-minute silence of the Kalundborg radio in Denmark suggested another raid on northern Germany. The drum of motors was heard continuously for more than a half hour.
One of the largest German centres around Lake Constance is Friedrichshafen, centre of great Zeppelin works, airplane engines and submarine parts factories. Der Bund of Berne reported that powerful detonations from bombs early this morning resounded across the lake and that flames soon shot up into the sky.

Nazis Label Raids Disturbance Attacks

The German broadcasts, recorded by the Associated Press, described the raids in the north as "disturbance attacks."
The R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. struck a devastating blow at the great French munitions works at Le Creusot Saturday night which was said by the Paris radio to have left the sprawling Schneider armaments works "nothing but a mountain of debris" with at least 184 dead and half the 15,000 population of the town homeless.
The Swiss telegraph agency reported Le Creusot was almost entirely destroyed. Successive waves of Allied bombers dropped incendiaries and explosives for 40 minutes producing "horrible spectacles," the agency said. No sector of the town was spared, not a house was left standing and all areas of the city still are smoking, the Swiss report said.
The Berne radio said some bombs fell in the Swiss canton of Thurgau during the night and that three persons were killed and one was injured in Kuemmershausen.
Returning Canadians reported that the bomber command crews did a "marvelous job" at Le Creusot and described it as "the easiest target we have ever pranged."

Three planes were lost in Saturday night's assault, indicating either that the force was smaller than those recently employed or that the Germans have not raised anti-aircraft barriers as effectively in France as they have in the Ruhr and the Rhineland.
Mosquito bombers patrolling Bay of Biscay area Sunday night shot down one German Blohm-Voss 138 flying boat, set three others afire and scored hits on an enemy minesweeper without any loss to themselves, the Air Ministry news service said.
The flying boat crashed into the sea a mass of flames, it was said. The other three were attacked on a lake 80 miles south of the Gironde river estuary and were left blazing on the water.
Hits also were scored on a giant Blohm-Voss 222 six-engine aircraft moored alongside, igniting one of its engines, the fliers reported.

Home Problem For Workers As Population Jumps

Demand for accommodation to house the stream of war shipyard workers coming to the city is creating an unprecedented situation here.

The campaign inaugurated by Yarrows Ltd. on the Canadian prairies for 1,000 shipyard workers to augment the 3,000 employees on the company's payroll has had the effect of making the situation, already difficult, still more acute.

National Housing Registry was deluged this morning with applications from men who reached here to work in the shipyards. A spokesman for Yarrows, which firm is advertising for rooms in the city to accommodate these men, today appealed to citizens to open up their homes to take care of the war workers at least until other plans can be made to take care of them.

ASK CITIZENS TO OPEN HOMES

Single men are coming into the city at a rate of from 10 to 12 a day and we expect from 250 to 300 more to arrive within the next month," the shipyard spokesman said.

"National Selective Service is doing a good job and the same may be said for National Housing Registry, but that is not enough to ease the present emergency."
"We are appealing to the citizens themselves to open their homes in order that workers can come here to help in filling the drive for more and more naval escort vessels."

Those who have rooms available are urged to get in touch with the shipyard company.
"If they have rooms available which are not furnished, we'll furnish the rooms for them," said the official.

"We've just got to have the accommodation for these workers," "You can't make the appeal too strong," said Mr. Walter Laing this morning at the National Housing Registry. "The housing problem is becoming more acute every day."

Most of the people want rooms with board, but the housing officials say the majority of them would be content with bed, breakfast and dinner, as they could get their lunch at the shipyard canteens.

The influx of new people is not confined to shipyard workers, apparently.

BIG INCREASE

Victoria's population is increasing by leaps and bounds. Families of service men have boosted the number seeking to locate here more or less permanently.
Hotels are full every day and in many cases visitors are being turned away. Those without reservations are unable to secure hotel accommodation in the city, especially at week-ends.

Families coming here, finding it difficult to get accommodation, are storing their furniture.

Art. Dowell, of Dowell's Pacific Transfer and Storage Co. Ltd., who today returned from a trip to eastern Canada, says the storage situation is the same all through the country. "The storage warehouses everywhere are chock-a-block and the storage men in the larger cities are looking for additional warehouse space in which to store the stuff."

"From Victoria to Halifax," he said, "the storage of goods is a problem."

Germans Report 15,000 Turks Dead In Heavy Quake

LONDON (CP)—The Berlin radio said today a violent earthquake had rocked the northwest part of Anatolia province of Turkey and that unconfirmed reports placed the dead in the city of Adapazar alone at 15,000, half its population.
The account, from the non-reliable Transocean news and propaganda agency, said the quake occurred shortly after 7:30 Sunday night during a heavy thunderstorm, and that a muffled rumbling from below the earth's surface added to the terror.

The quake's epicentre was placed at Adapazar and the unconfirmed reports, Transocean said, were that 30 per cent of the houses were destroyed and another 30 per cent were damaged severely.

Anatolia is the great western peninsula of Turkey between the Black and Mediterranean Seas, leading to the Dardanelles.

Earth tremors also were reported felt in other parts of Anatolia, even in the east. Sparse and disrupted communications delayed accurate accounts of damage and suffering.

FELT AT ISTANBUL

The earthquake shocks were felt at Istanbul, formerly Constantinople, and the principal city of Turkey, and the German agency said the people there were "seized with panic," rushing from their homes and restaurants. It required more than an hour to restore calm, the report added.

The broadcast by the Associated Press, said all telegraph and telephone communications were disrupted and railway traffic between Istanbul and the capital, Ankara, was interrupted.

Physicians, nurses and medical supplies were dispatched to Adapazar, it was said. The city of 30,000 lies 75 miles east of Istanbul.

Great damage also was reported in Geyve, a city of some 36,000 inhabitants. Assistance was immediately sped to the stricken area aboard rescue trains from Ankara and Istanbul, the broadcast said.

Ickes, Lewis Discuss Ending of New Strike

WASHINGTON (AP)—Interior Secretary Harold Ickes disclosed this afternoon he had met today with John L. Lewis to discuss the ending of the third general coal strike.

The big coal strike, one of the United States war machine had stalled again and the 500,000 miners who run it looked to the government for their cue.

Rejecting what they termed an "infamous yellow dog contract" proposed by the War Labor Board, John L. Lewis and his United Mine Workers invoked their "no contract no work" policy for the third time within two months after negotiations with the operators had collapsed.

By noon there were no reports of any U.M.W. members working in disregard of that policy.

Pennsylvania with 200,000 hard and soft coal miners and West Virginia with 130,000 bituminous workers represented more than three-fifths of the total number idle. Numbers of U.M.W. miners in other states include 60,000 in Kentucky, Illinois 25,000, Alabama 22,000, Virginia 23,500, Ohio 21,000, Tennessee 10,000, Indiana 8,000, Arkansas-Oklahoma 6,000, Colorado 6,680, Wyoming 4,100, Utah 3,300, Iowa 2,000, New Mexico 1,800 and Montana 1,300.

The door was held open for a speedy resumption of operations under the direct sponsorship of the government, however, and the next move appeared to be up to Interior Secretary Harold Ickes, who was placed in charge of the mines May 1 as federal fuels administrator.

Ickes, who was represented by his aides as feeling that no precipitate action Sunday night could have fended off the expiration of the latest work truce at midnight, made no immediate comment.
The operators declared with the breaking off of negotiations Sunday that "no possibility of agreement exists" so long as the miners continue their insistence on $1.30 a day extra pay for underground travel time. This figure had been whittled down from an original demand of $2.

PREJUDICE CHARGED

The Mine Workers' policy committee, in a statement assailing the War Labor Board, which Lewis has charged with prejudice, declared:
"We assert the willingness of the miners to work and continue the production of coal for the government itself, under the direction of the custodian of mines."

The executive officers of the United Mine Workers of America are hereby instructed to hold themselves in readiness to confer with the Secretary of the Interior."

The work stoppages began in an orderly fashion with the Friday night shifts and approximately 60,000 miners had quit work before the whistles blew in an empty summons this morning.

Ickes has been nominally in charge of the mines since the government took them over May 1, but until today the operators have continued in actual control, acting as agents of the government.

6 Negroes Slain, Hundreds Injured In Street Clashes

DETROIT (AP)—Michigan state police and state troops arrived in Detroit today to restore order after six persons were killed and some 200 injured in widespread race riots.

Capt. Doland S. Leonard of Michigan state police announced shortly before 11 a.m. that Governor Harry Kelly of Michigan had ordered mobilization of the state forces.

At that time outbreaks of violence which had spread from an altercation at the Belle Isle Bridge late Sunday night were continuing despite the mobilization of the entire 3,500 members of the police force of the nation's fourth city.

Six negroes had lost their lives. A white physician, attacked while answering a call, and a police sergeant were critically injured. The police sergeant was shot in a gun fight with a negro store-robbing gang.

Capt. Leonard said the governor had directed mobilization, at two Detroit armories, of 1,000 state troops picked from the best-trained companies in the state. In addition, he said, between 400 and 500 members of the state police force, including those in Michigan's upper peninsula, more than 300 miles from Detroit, were already mobilized and standing ready for action if needed.

Governor Flies From Ohio Capital

Governor Kelly arranged to fly to Detroit from Columbus, O., where he had gone for the annual governors' conference. He said at Columbus: "I am not declaring martial law. I am trying to hold the situation without that."

Groups of negroes and of white men milled about on street corners in a wide section bordering and northeast of downtown Detroit, hurling stones and bricks at passing automobiles bearing members of both races. Automobiles were overturned. Police reported every window on Hastings Street, "Paradise Valley" of the Detroit negro section, broken for a distance of 25 blocks.

Hospitals were crowded with persons awaiting treatment of injuries. They stood or sat in corridors.

Before noon police had arrested 326 persons on charges ranging from felonious assault to disturbing the peace and carrying concealed weapons.

All Saloons In District Closed

All saloons in Detroit and suburban Hamtramck were ordered closed. Police directed pawnshop and hardware store operators to remove from windows and shelves all stocks of guns, ammunition and knives and to lock them in safes.

Two negro leaders, Rev. Horace White of Plymouth Congregational Church and Otis Saunders of the Double-V committee, a negro organization, reported to Mayor Edward J. Jeffries they were met by jeers when they toured the area of violence in a police car with sound amplifier, appealing for a cessation of fighting.

White and Saunders said one cause of the emotional disturbance that resulted in the riots was a widespread, erroneous report among members of their race that a negro woman and child were slain Sunday on Belle Isle, recreational and swimming spot in the Detroit River.

They recommended mobilization of 200 negro leaders deputized as special officers, as the best means to halt the rioting. Police agreed to the recruiting of 200 negroes as special aides, but said they would not be deputized and would not carry arms.

Auxiliary special policemen trained by civilian defence units to aid the police during air raids were ordered mobilized. Among them are many negroes.

Plane Saw U-Boat; Helped Sink It

LONDON (CP)—The Air Ministry has announced details of the participation of a Sunderland flying boat from an R.C.A.F. coastal command squadron in an action which led to the destruction of a submarine by the Canadian corvette Drumheller and the Royal Navy frigate Lagan, which was protecting a convoy.

The Sunderland, captained by a Rhodesian with FO. H. V. Martin of Winnipeg as the navigator, sighted the U-boat surfaced and moving toward the convoy. The aircraft attacked and the U-boat fought back with its deck guns for 10 minutes before submerging. The Sunderland then attacked with depth charges the spot where the submarine went down, while calling the Drumheller.

Continued attacks by the Sunderland and the Drumheller, with the Lagan joining in, then destroyed the U-boat within five minutes. Large quantities of wreckage floated to the surface in a spreading oil patch that ultimately extended over nearly 2,000 yards.

By managing to keep the U-boat in sight, the Air Ministry said, the aircraft made the work of the warships far easier when they arrived on the scene.

Italian Defences Relentlessly Hit 16 Axis Airplanes Shot Down In Fights

By HAROLD V. BOYLE

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, NORTH AFRICA (AP)—Allied air fleets were declared officially today to have wrought new destruction on Sicilian targets from Marsala to Messina straits—shooting down 16 Axis fighters in the process—and the Rome radio said Naples and four other Italian mainland cities also were raided Sunday.

Medium bombers and fighters co-operated to round out heavy week-end blows against Italy and Sicily.

The Italian high command communiqué, broadcast from Rome, said Naples, major west coast supply port; Foggia, a railroad city near the spur of the Italian boot; Spinnazzola, 45 miles to the southeast, and Reggio Calabria and San Giovanni, on the toe of the boot, were attacked by Allied airmen Sunday.

(These raids were not reported in Allied announcements, but the Italians have on occasion told of such thrusts before they were reported by northwest Africa, Malta or Middle East communiqués.

RAIDS TO SPREAD

(The Algiers radio warned the Italian people in a broadcast today that Allied air blows, which have been largely confined to ports, would spread now to the interior.

"If you want to save your industries and see Italy restored to the position she deserves after the war," the announcer said, "demand peace and demonstrate for peace."

The northwest African air forces lost five planes during the operations, which included a heavy assault by R.A.F. Wellingtons on Messina Saturday night. Fires visible 100 miles away were started in the Messina railway freight yards and the ferry terminus area.

Aerial patrols over Pantelleria frustrated a new attempt by Axis fighter-bombers to break through to strike at the island's British garrison.

(Axis radio broadcasts said Allied naval dispositions off Syria indicated a possibility of action in the Aegean.

(A Saturday night attack by German bombers upon an Allied convoy off Cap Serrat, Tunisia, was reported in a D.N.B. dispatch radioed from Berlin to have left six transports and merchantmen totaling 35,000 tons seriously damaged, one of them enveloped "in a huge cloud of smoke."

(Steady strengthening of British and American forces in the Mediterranean zone again was indicated by a dispatch from La Linea, Spanish neighbor of Gibraltar. It said 30 more landing launches, each armed with two guns and carrying a crew of 25, left the British fortress for north Africa today. Some 70 merchantmen were reported in Gibraltar's harbor.)

DROP BLOCKBUSTERS

Two waves of Wellingtons hurled 4,000-pound blockbusters and showers of incendiaries over the Messina ferry terminus, which is the island's chief link to the Italian mainland industrial area and port installations.

Fires spread through the whole target zone.

Other Wellingtons attacked San Giovanni, on the Italian side of Messina Straits; Porto Empedoce, in Southern Sicily; and Marsala, a west coast port.

In tangled clashes of mounting fury, Allied fighters closed with 15 enemy fighters which rose to challenge them as they were leaving Castelvetrano after hitting the airport's traffic control buildings, straddling the runway with heavy bombs and scoring direct hits with fragmentation bombs on a large number of Axis planes dispersed on the field.

(Axis invasion speculation took the turn Sunday night that action might come in the eastern Mediterranean, where the Middle East command has been pounding enemy shipping and Axis railway targets on the Greek mainland.

(The German radio, in a broadcast recorded by the Ministry of Information at London, said an Allied fleet was reported off the Syrian coast, making preparations to steam into action in the Aegean Sea.

(The Syria-Turkey border was closed as a security measure for a period last week.

(The German radio also said two battleships, an aircraft carrier, a cruiser and 17 destroyers were reported anchored at Gibraltar and that five landing craft mounting cannon and anti-aircraft batteries had moved from the fortress in the direction of north Africa.

(The Italians asserted, without Allied confirmation, that Axis air power was stabbing at increased Allied shipping in the Mediterranean and in harbors at Bone, Bizerte and Pantelleria.

C.P. Airlines Plant Officially Opened

Canadian Pacific Airlines plant at New Westminster showing employees (below) working on plane wing. (Insert) George A. Thompson, manager.

NEW WESTMINSTER—Official opening of the Canadian Pacific Air Lines aircraft repair plant here Sunday was attended by about 2,500 invited guests, who heard speakers tell of the vital work done in the prosecution of the defence of Canada, and they saw for themselves actual repair being done on PBY's, Bolingbrokes, Hurricanes, Lockheed Hudsons and other first-line R.C.A.F. aircraft.

OPENED BY HAMBER

In officially opening the plant, Hon. E. W. Hamber, C.P.R. director, said that the plant will be a large employer of labor and will be physical properties of a most modern type, are employed in an essential and vital war task.

Mr. Hamber revealed that "the transport division of the Canadian Pacific Airlines employs some 1,200 men and women and uses some 80 aircraft. The six air observer schools and one elementary flying training school, operated under the British Commonwealth Air Training Plan, on a nonprofit basis, has 3,500 employees. The five aircraft repair and engine overhaul plants have 2,500 employees, making a total of 7,200 employees in Canadian Pacific Airlines." He added that the New Westminster plant, largest and most modern of the company's chain, has more than 1,000 employees and the number will soon grow to 1,500.

PROPERTY OF PEOPLE

George A. Thompson, general manager, said the plant is wholly owned by the Department of Munitions and Supply and is the property of the Canadian people. Its design and equipment benefit from experience gained in the construction of all other similar plants in the Dominion and it has facilities for the overhaul and repair of all types of aircraft in operation today.

In the opinion of Air Vice-Marshal Stevenson, air officer commanding Western Air Command, the opening of this plant will take care of R.C.A.F. requirements in this province for many years to come. "The work done here," he said, "is not as enjoyable as creating new machines, but it is important enough that the plant can consider itself part and parcel of the R.C.A.F. Repair operations correspond to that done by surgeons, doctors and nurses who give new life to the manpower of Canada injured over Europe. The speed and efficiency of the Canadian Pacific plant are appreciated because every hour that a machine is undergoing repair means the loss of a training hour for an airman."

MAYOR MOTT SPEAKS

Mayor Mott officially welcomed the plant and its employees to New Westminster. "We feel privileged to have such a plant," he said, "because the work here will continue when the war is finished. We are pleased to have its employees as new citizens and I am sure that they will find a real welcome in our city."

Other speakers were F. Hume, chairman of the advisory committee, aircraft industry relations committee, who told of the building of the plant and praised the management and the staff for their work; Miss Grace Wood, who spoke for the 270 women employees, saying that they were exceptionally proud to make their contribution and to be able to release men to fire guns, drive tanks or drop blockbusters on Hitler and Tojo; and C. Jones, chairman of the shop stewards, who praised the women workers and all employees "who were all-out for increased production and take great pride in their ability and workman-

Fighting Dwindles On Russian Front To Scout Action

MOSCOW (AP)—Land warfare on the Soviet front lapsed into scouting operations and sporadic artillery bombardments today, just one day short of the second anniversary of Germany's attack on Russia.

A tense Red Army awaited the summer offensive many observers believe Hitler must launch soon if he hopes to try to knock Russia from the war before the Allies attack in the west, but the continuation of day and night bombings was the only indication that a large-scale smash might be expected.

The Russians announced Sunday night that 276 German planes had been knocked down last week, boosting enemy aircraft losses to 3,595 in seven weeks. The Russians said their losses for the week were 94.

A German transport was sunk and a tanker and two transports were set afire in the Barents Sea during an attack by Russian bombers, torpedo carriers and torpedo planes, the Russians said today.

50 NAZI ATTACKS FAIL

Ground action in the Orel sector, which had centred about Mtsensk, northwest of Orel, shifted to the Sumy area 100 miles northwest of Kharkov Saturday after 50 German counterattacks to regain lost positions near Mtsensk had been repulsed. (The Sevsk area is the pivotal Orel sector of the Russian front and was subjected Sunday night to a heavy Russian artillery bombardment which shattered German blockhouses and scattered enemy troop concentrations, the midday Soviet communiqué said.

The bombardment was accompanied by an aerial attack which the Russians said was made on parked German planes, hangars and stores at Bryansk and Karachev behind the Orel front, it was said in the communiqué, which was recorded by the Soviet monitor in London from a Moscow broadcast).

2 French Leaders Fail to Agree On Military Command

ALGIERS (AP)—The French Committee of National Liberation today failed to agree in a morning meeting on the issue of division of military powers between Gen. Charles de Gaulle and Gen. Henri Giraud.

Thirteen members of the committee met in a plenary session for two hours and 45 minutes under the shadow of the prospect that Gen. de Gaulle might withdraw unless his own proposals for reorganization of French military affairs were adopted.

Unofficially, it was stated the committee got no farther than arguing the question of who should be commander-in-chief, a position Gen. Giraud now holds. Gen. de Gaulle was reported to have demanded an immediate vote on this appointment. The command was said to have deferred a decision until Tuesday.

'PURSUE STUDIES'

A communiqué issued after today's meeting said simply: "The French Committee of National Liberation pursued the study of reorganization of the armed forces."

Nevertheless, among the arguments over the military issue, the committee approved reorganization of the Tunisian civil administration.

Observers said their first impression when the session broke up was one of a bitter deadlock, but some committee members later indicated the mere fact that De Gaulle, Giraud and their adherents had agreed to meet again Tuesday gave them hope for an eventual compromise.

Both Gen. Georges Catroux and Jean Monnet, confidantes of Gen. de Gaulle, were reported to have conferred with him at length Sunday in an attempt to persuade him against taking any drastic step which might jeopardize French efforts at united government.

In principle both factions are reported in agreement on a formula for division of military authority with Gen. de Gaulle as commissioner of national defence and Gen. Giraud as commander-in-chief of the armed forces.

The De Gaulleists, however, apparently are fearful that the plan, if put into effect under present conditions, would have so many limitations that Gen. de Gaulle would be virtually hamstringing efforts to rejuvenate the army by ousting over-age officers and others previously loyal to Vichy.

Army Sailors Beat Navy By Narrow Point Margin

First of the season's inter-services races held under the auspices of the Royal Victoria Yacht Club Sunday afternoon produced keen competition.

Four classes competed, C and D class cruisers, stars and dinghies.

On the basis of the first and second boats being awarded an extra half point for a win, Army gained a narrow decision over Navy by a margin of 25 points to 23 1/2 for the Navy, while the Air Force (R.C.A.F. and R.A.F.) gained a total of 13 points.

Stars, dinghies and D class cruisers sailed the triangular course once around, with C class cruisers as well as stars in second race making the circuit twice.

In the C class race, Margaret D (Army) and Lalanga (Navy) staged a great battle, Lalanga holding the lead for the first round, but finally losing out by 50 seconds.

Variable northerly winds prevailed.

JOHNSTON HIGH POINT

Johnston of the Navy was high point man for the afternoon with a win piloting Aquila and a second sailing Boykin, netting his team a valuable 11 points. Prize winners were Alexander, star, Rees, dinghy; Mackay, D class; Osborn, C class, for the Army. Johnston, star for the Navy, and Peterson, dinghy and Bird, D class, for the R.C.A.F.-R.A.F.

Finishes in the first race, starting at 2 in the afternoon, were as follows:

D class—Zephyr II, Mackay (Army), 3:27.10; Kittiwake, Lukey (R.C.A.F.), 3:30.00; Zephyr, Ferrie (Army), 3:40.30.

Dinghies—Guillemot, Rees (Army), 3:10.20; Kismet, Laws (Navy), 3:20.26; Onoway, Bottrell (R.C.A.F.), 3:24.30; Falcon, Plumtree (Army), 3:40.00.

Entrants in second race, starting at 4, finished: Stars—Aquila, Johnston (Navy), 4:44.20; Nomana, Wells (R.A.F.), 4:46.30; Boykin, Kendall (R.A.F.), 4:52.15; Ripples, Alexander (Army), 4:52.40; Mintaka, Smith (Navy), 4:57.40; Cygnus, Rees (Army), 5:06.00.

Dinghies—Kismet, Peterson (R.C.A.F.), 4:45.00; Onoway, Laws (Navy), 4:45.15; Guillemot, Larsen R.C.A.F., 4:46.30; Falcon, Mackay (Army), 5:05.25.

D class cruisers—Zephyr II, Bird (R.C.A.F.), 5:11.07; Kittiwake, Bottrell R.C.A.F., 5:11.30. Humphrey Golby was officer of the day and Ben Temple was starter and timekeeper. Maurice Green, in the absence of the commodore, presented the prizes.

Stars, dinghies, C and D class auxiliary cruisers competed at Cadboro Bay Sunday morning.

D CLASS IN ACTION

D class racing competed for the first time since the new class was created for a smaller type of craft than C class.

Zephyr II, skippered by Jack Woodward and crewed by Dick Freeman, romped across the finish line ahead of Kittiwake, sailed by Pete Townsend and Zephyr, piloted by F. Coverdale. Starting at 11:22, the D class boats finished: Zephyr II, Jack Woodward, 12:12.30; Kittiwake, Pete Townsend, 12:37.00; Zephyr, F. Coverdale, 12:41.00.

Three C class cruisers competed Sunday morning, setting out at 11:20 and finishing: Margaret D, Andy Wright, 12:04.05;

Lalanga, R. V. James, 12:19.00;

Quest, John Jukes, 12:25.05.

Stars, sailed by their regular skippers, got away at 11. They came in as follows: Ripples, W. Walsh, 11:27.40; Boykin, Walter Blandy, 11:33.00; Nomana, F. L. Wells, 11:33.03; Cygnus, Jack Downs, 11:34.10; Montaka, W. Barrett, 11:34.40; Aquila, A. Packford, 11:37.10.

Dinghies, starting at 11:15, finished the morning round: Kismet, H. Gann, 11:41.24; Guillemot, A. Taylor, 11:41.33; Falcon, Nick Blandy, 12:01.00. Teal, sailed by W. Wakelyn, failed to finish.

WOOD FUEL COMPLAINTS

When the City Fuel Committee uses what I consider to be phony pretexts to solicit dictatorial power from Ottawa over private enterprise, as recorded in Thursday's Times, they should be exposed.

First excuse: Firms have collected money in advance for wood without licenses or fuel.

Answer: This, if a fraud, is covered by the Criminal Code.

Second pretext: Two local fuel dealers refuse to co-operate in filling emergency orders. One chose to give exclusive service to his old customers and the other is stocking 200 cords in his yard to secure a higher price later in the year.

Answer: I can understand a dealer trying to give preference to old patrons as that has been a policy followed by fuel merchants for many years. This, however, is not serious. Regarding the stock of wood, I believe that I am the only dealer stocking any quantity, so I conclude they refer to me. Now, any wood in my yard at present is paid for by me at the green price and earmarked for the distress cases of a neighboring municipality.

So, in conclusion, I contend that this makes their pretexts on which they base their appeal for power, look feeble.

I might add that every time there is an increase in the amount of wood made available to Greater Victoria through the initiative of sawmill owners, fuel merchants and wartime board field men, the committee apparently reports the increase to the papers and the inference I draw is that the credit for the increase is solely due to them.

After the hundreds of cords the city has had delivered to their own yard, which could easily have been sent straight to the needy customer, I was surprised to learn that they even saw our little stock of wood over the top of their own.

Farm Help Wages Show Sharp Rise

OTTAWA (CP)—The Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported at the weekend that the rate of wages paid to farm help at May 15, 1943, increased sharply as compared with the same date of 1941 and 1942.

The increase, the bureau said, occurred in all provinces, and for the country as a whole the average rate of wages paid to farm laborers where the farmer provided the board was $2.39 per day at May 15, 1943, as compared with $1.91 a year previously.

Where the employee provided his own board, the average rate of wages for day help was $3.15 per day, compared with $2.57 at May 15, 1942. For men hired by the month, with board provided, the average rate of wages in 1943 was $51.46, against $42.49 in 1942.

When no board was provided, the average monthly rate was $71.78 in 1943 as compared with $58.80 in the previous year. Wage rates for day help was "uniformly high," but reached the highest mark in Alberta, where the rate with board provided was $2.89 per day.

For help paid by the month, with board, the highest rate also was paid in Alberta, where it stood at $61.84 per month. Where no board was provided, the daily average rate was highest in British Columbia, the bureau said.

Figures included in the report, the bureau said, were provided by farm correspondents in all provinces of Canada. As collection of this data was begun in 1940, no comparable figures for previous years are available.

Maitland Urges Alaska Connection

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Alaska Military Highway, "probably the greatest potential tourist attraction on this continent," must have direct connections with British Columbia, Attorney-General R. L. Maitland declared here Saturday night.

Speaking before the regional conference of the Junior Chambers of Commerce of British Columbia, he declared:

"It may well be before this war is over, necessities which arise in fighting Japan will require a railroad to Alaska, as well as roads now being made. In both instances this province must have direct connections.

"From Mexico to Alaska," he added, "there is a universal wish

Big Convoy Escorted Into Port Safely

LONDON (CP)—The Admiralty finally has permitted release of details of the most successful anti-submarine action in which Canadian ships ever have participated—a five-day running battle between dozens of German U-boats and a north Atlantic escort force during which two submarines were certainly destroyed, three more probably destroyed and an unstated number of others possibly damaged.

A rising young Canadian naval officer, Lieut. Roy Gentles of Toronto, was one of a group of staff officers serving aboard the British four-stacker destroyer Broadway which smashed one of the submarines. The Canadian corvette Drumheller shared credit with the British frigate Lagan for the destruction of the other.

This story, held for weeks until the news could not help the enemy, was written two days more than a month ago when the purposeful, battle-rusty group of destroyers and corvettes slipped into a northern Ireland port.

They got in early one morning while it was still dark, and I visited aboard several ships of the group within the next few hours.

BRING BACK TROPHIES

In the Broadway I found Gentles among his British wardroom mates and on the wardroom table was a dirty cotton sweatshirt bearing a Nazi insignia and the German double eagle—along with other miscellaneous debris—proof that the crew of the Broadway had not spent those sleepless, nerve-stretching days and nights in vain.

The escort force was mainly British, but in addition to the Drumheller the Canadian corvettes Morden and Chambly were along.

The Drumheller, under command of Lieut. L. P. Denny, R.C. N.R., of Halifax, engaged one submarine to set it up for the Lagan. The Morden, under command of Lieut. J. J. Hodgkinson of Verdun, Que., and St. John's, Nfld., did its part in the fight, picking up all but three survivors of a Norwegian freighter, torpedoed when it straggled from the convoy and was several hours without escort.

Overhead, while the sea action took place, buzzed aircraft from H.M.S. Biter, one of the growing force of escort carriers attached to the Atlantic convoy forces. Use of these carrier-based aircraft, which was released only recently, bridged the gap between shore-based aircraft escorts from each side of the Atlantic and played a vital part in actions leading up to successful attacks which drove off the pack attacking this particular convoy.

If there was a personal victory in the smooth co-operation of the groups of officers and men and ships and aircraft in this winning battle against the subs it belongs to red-bearded Lieut. Gentles, whose parents live at Toronto.

ON FIRST TRIP

It is impossible to identify his part in this action, but he was making his first trip aboard the Broadway after several months with the Morden. His elation over the action was plain, but his story was concise and impersonal.

"The one we got had been spotted by one of the aircraft before we picked it up," he said while visitors from other ships congratulated him.

"Our first attack had no result and we lost contact for a short time. Then we picked it up again dead ahead and took a run at it. We let go our pattern of depth charges and there was an underwater explosion, a heavy one, and a short time later another.

"Then pieces of debris started coming to the surface and everything concentrated on getting enough of them to show we had got a sub."

He showed what the destroyers' eager officers and men had picked up—besides the sweatshirt were a couple of socks, a kitbag of canvas-like material and odd bits of wood, one a panel bearing two electric switches with directions in German beneath them.

NEAREST PROOF

That is the nearest approach to proof of a sinking convoy men can find as a rule, unless they get the only really tangible proof, prisoners of a few bodies. However, as Sub-Lt. Garth Rowsome of Regina, one of the officers in the wardroom confab said: "It doesn't matter much about official credit as long as we feel we got them and as long as we get the convoys through. When we do that we're beating them, credit or no."

Officers of the Drumheller included Sub-Lt. James Morton of Winnipeg.

The Drumheller personnel was a bit disappointed that their ship had been forced to leave the submarine to be finished off by the Lagan. The ship has been in the Atlantic service for three years and has effected a number of rescues. She spent a brief spell in the Mediterranean a few months ago.

87% Of Americans Condemn Tactics Of John L. Lewis

PRINCETON, N.J.—Americans have strong opinions about John L. Lewis and most of them are unflattering.

A national survey by the Gallup Poll finds that, for every voter who is wholeheartedly in favor of Lewis, there are nearly 10 who condemn his tactics and policies.

In no public opinion survey ever conducted has the poll encountered such harsh language from Americans as they use in giving their opinions of Lewis. Some had difficulty expressing their views because what first came to their minds was, they said, unprintable.

National opinion on mine union labor leader was sounded by a corps of 182 interviewers for the poll. These interviewers talked to laborers, farmers, white-collar workers, housewives—people in all walks of life in all sections of the country selected in such a way as to reflect accurately the views of the whole nation.

Each person was asked: "What is your opinion of John L. Lewis?"

The replies were taken down verbatim. When analyzed they showed the following totals: 9 per cent had favorable opinions; 87 per cent had unfavorable opinions; 4 per cent had no opinion.

A few (7 per cent) of those with unfavorable opinions said they thought that Lewis is a good labor leader, but that they disapprove of his recent conduct in the coal labor crisis.

There can be no question that Lewis holds the respect of some industrial workers. They admire him for fighting the battles of the workingman, for improving working conditions and for giving labor a powerful voice in national affairs. Such comments as "he's taking care of the laboring classes," "he stands behind the working people," and "he's loyal to his followers and wouldn't sell them out" are typical of that point of view.

It is an attitude not shared, however, by the great majority of the country.

1944 REPERCUSSIONS

It is interesting to note that the American people were calling

Lewis criminal and traitor before the Connally-Smith bill, officially making it a crime to foment strikes in government-held plants, was passed by Congress.

If national opinion toward Lewis continues as it is today, it will undoubtedly affect his political power in 1944 and may even have repercussions on the labor leader after the war.

Both friends and foes of organized labor have been saying that it was public rage over Lewis' actions in the coal crisis which led to the passage of the Connally-Smith bill. Public opinion studies have found, however, that an overwhelming sentiment for regulating labor unions existed for a number of years before the coal crisis—stretching back, in fact, to the time of the sit-down strikes of 1937.

Dutch Minister Dies in Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP)—Frans Eysa Henricus Groenman, 60, envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary to Canada from the Netherlands, died Sunday at the Netherlands legation here.

While the minister had been in poor health for some time and earlier this year had spent considerable time in hospital, his death was unexpected. He had been in Ottawa since the autumn of 1939.

Following his death business of the legation is in the hands of J. D. van Karnebeek, chargé d'affaires, since April.

The death occurred while Queen Wilhelmina of the Netherlands is on this side of the ocean.

Mr. Groenman was born at The Hague. After he had passed his consular examination, he was sent to Berne, Switzerland; Copenhagen, Denmark, and then to Winnipeg. At that time Netherlands immigration to Canada was on a considerable scale and Mr. Groenman traveled extensively, both in Canada and the United States, making a survey of immigration conditions.

The new 199-mile oil pipeline across Florida will soon carry 30,000 barrels a day; Texas barges will unload gasoline at Carabelle, and Atlantic coast barges will load up with it at Jacksonville.

Today's WAR NEWS Analysis

By MAX HILL

Associated Press War Analyst
News dispatches from Moscow and the short-wave broadcasts from Tokyo—virtually the only source of news we have from Japan now—would give one the impression that all was well between those two obviously antagonistic countries.

Such is not the case, emphatically. They have nothing in common, much to quarrel about.

It is interesting to note that it is Japan which is applying the "soft pedal" rather than the Russians, whose hatred for the Japanese is frequently expressed in no uncertain terms.

The Russians boldly describe the Siberian frontier between Manchukuo and Korea as the Far Eastern front, and they have kept two well-equipped armies out in that area despite the trials of the war with Germany.

HATE AND FEAR

Japanese hate and fear the Russians. A Japanese who was influential in the government at that time—1941—once told me what it was. He said:

"You in America, protected from all sides, have never had a big bear on your back all the time."

That hatred is shared by the Russians, but not the fear. The war with Germany has fortified their quiet confidence.

Just how "touchy" the Japanese really are on the subject of relations with Russia is indicated by the inspired broadcasts from Tokyo. No mention was made, in the home service broadcasts of the recent dissolution of the Comintern. The Japanese government would rather not have their people know of this development.

And spokesman Hori of the official board of information in Tokyo tried to scoff at rumors that the Soviets might lease bases to the United States. It was absurd, he said, to think the Allies might get air-bases from Russia in the Far East, although he admitted such a development might have a serious effect on Japanese-Russian relations.

NOW OR NEVER

Japan has only one time to attack Russia—the present. Next year probably will be too late, because the full force of the Allies will be mobilized against her. Hitler's Germany by that time, if not defeated, will be seriously weakened.

Russia is satisfied to maintain the present troubled but uncertain relations which prevail between her and Japan in the Far East—but this may not be true of Japan.

She has too much at stake to permit the United Nations a probable avenue of attack through Siberia, and she may decide to strike to the north in an attempt to complete the circle of bases she has around her home islands.

This is a factor in the war which has been neglected recently, due to developments in Africa and Europe, but just the same it is a powder keg which might be touched off at any time.

Riverland Destroyed

NEW YORK (AP)—Riverland, five-year-old gelding that cost Harold A. Clark of Miami $6,000 a year ago and then whipped both Alsab and Whirlaway within five days last fall, was destroyed Saturday.

The ace of Clark's Louisiana stable smashed his hipcap in last Saturday's Carter Handicap at Aqueduct. Four veterinarians, representing the insurance company with which he was insured for $40,000, decided the injury was too serious and that the horse would have to be destroyed.

The feathers of the bluebird contain only brown or blackish pigment overlaid by a layer of prismatic cells which reflect only blue light rays; there is no blue pigment in bird plumage and very little green.

MONDAY, JUNE 21, 1943

An Epochal Anniversary

TWO YEARS AGO TOMORROW ADOLF Hitler sent his legions crashing across the frontier of the Soviet Union. Thus has June 22, 1941, become a momentous date in the chronology of this most brutal and costliest war of all time. Not only is this true because of the almost miraculous role Russia has played and is still playing, but also because it gives the rest of the United Nations an excellent opportunity to mark their profound admiration for and gratitude to their valiant fighting ally.

Canada is taking her share in the anniversary exercises by a series of meetings to be held all across the Dominion tomorrow. Perhaps the most imposing has been arranged by a committee under the leadership of Sir Ellsworth Flavelle for the Maple Leaf Gardens in Toronto. This body has been fortunate in obtaining Hon. Joseph E. Davies, former United States ambassador to the Soviet Union, who only recently, it will be recalled, returned to Washington with Marshal Stalin's reply to the secret letter from Mr. Roosevelt—a second "Mission to Moscow" which brought "much satisfaction" to the American President. It is a happy circumstance, too, that Prime Minister Mackenzie King will preside at this gathering and introduce the distinguished guest speaker. Also, tomorrow evening, in the Chamber of Commerce auditorium here, Victorians will be especially fortunate in hearing Professor Ivar Spector, who will come over from the University of Washington to deliver the anniversary address. This distinguished son of "Mother Russia" is a brilliant speaker and a noted writer on his native land, both as to the part she is playing against the Axis and the role she has assigned for herself in the postwar world.

Apart from their significance as marking a development which actually sealed the doom of the common enemy, meetings such as those planned for tomorrow will serve to promote understanding and friendship between the Canadian and Russian peoples. More than a year ago, moreover, Britain established a national committee with a similar laudable purpose in view under the chairmanship of Lord Horder, one of the King's physicians and an expert on cancer. It set itself a campaign of enlightenment in its widest sense, also with the complementary objective of establishing a working relationship between scientific and other special groups in the two countries. Through its instrumentality has emerged the Anglo-Soviet Medical Council, headed by Sir Alfred Webb-Johnson, under whose auspices a group of eminent British medical men is now en route to Russia to study Soviet war medicine. Dr. Corliss Lamont, incidentally, presides over an organization in the United States similar to the British body.

Too much emphasis cannot be placed on the necessity for strengthening the foundations for good will and co-operation between the western democracies and the Soviet Union. Small wonder that Britons of every shade of thought have eulogized the progressiveness of "The Times of London" for its repeated reminder, in a series of editorials, that "Britain's destiny is inextricably linked with Russia"—and that the future security and peace for the British Commonwealth of Nations rest largely on the permanent effectiveness of the Anglo-Soviet Pact.

Getting Started
WHEN MR. HART MEETS THE OFFICIALS of the British Columbia Electric Railway Company in Vancouver this week he will be fulfilling a promise he made to the Legislature at its last session and in subsequent announcements. First of all the Premier stipulated that he would require to know what the municipalities directly involved in the future of transportation and power in this province thought about the idea of acquiring the holdings of the B.C.E.R. He has since been advised by the Mayors of Victoria and Vancouver that these two and other municipalities either are out and out in favor of taking over the assets and services of the company or are definitely interested in such a plan.

With these assurances as the background, Mr. Hart has something concrete on which to conduct his conversations with the officials of the B.C.E.R. In his statement on Friday, however, the Premier did not attempt to predict what developments his conference might produce. So far, the general proposal has not been discussed with the company's officials, although, of course, it is scarcely likely he would have announced such a far-reaching proposal unless he not only believed it to be in the public interest but also that the project could be discussed in a friendly and co-operative atmosphere. Mr. Hart's announcement nevertheless did make it plain that "if this goes through it will mean the province will take responsibility for development of power and supplying it to arranged centres"; but "distribution and operation will be a matter for the cities; the provincial government will not be in the distribution or transportation business."

Until the Premier has conferred with the officials of the B.C.E.R., of course, it would be foolish to speculate on the outcome. But the main point in which the public of the province is especially interested is that a start is about to be made in respect of a proposal which directly concerns the citizens of urban and rural communities alike. It represents a practical demonstration on the part of the Coalition government to implement by progressive action the program of provincial development which Mr. Hart outlined to the Legislature last February 10. The result of his conversations in Vancouver, therefore, will be awaited with absorbing interest.

Mr. H. E. Beasley

VICTORIA LOST A STERLING CITIZEN through the death yesterday of Mr. H. E. Beasley, formerly a valued servant of the Canadian Pacific Railway, and, until his retirement 15 years ago, General Superintendent of the Esquimalt and Nanaimo system. During his long residence in this city he identified himself with every progressive movement, his sage advice and wise counsel often being called upon by the old Board of Trade and its successor, the Chamber of Commerce. Although indifferent health in latter days had necessarily curtailed his activities, his interest in the affairs of this community, its humanities and its progress, never failed to claim his attention. As one of the original members of the Seniors' Northwest Golf Association, he always looked forward with pleasure to the renewal of old acquaintances which its annual tournament afforded him, and many on its membership roster and a legion of friends in other parts of Canada will learn of his passing with profound regret. Little in the passing scene of these troublous times escaped his attention; always a student, he enriched an engaging and kindly personality with an intimate knowledge of men and affairs. The world can ill afford to lose men of Mr. Beasley's fine qualities of mind and heart. The Times associates their loss with numerous and sincere condolences that will be extended to his widow and his three sons.

Killarney's By-election

MANITOBA'S FIRST BY-ELECTION since the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation withdrew its support from the Coalition government last December will be fought in the Killarney constituency of the prairie province tomorrow. This is a Conservative stronghold—at least as far as it concerns provincial politics—and at the general election on April 22, 1941, the Conservative-Coalitionist polled 1,415 votes against his Liberal opponent's 814; the C.C.F. did not enter a candidate. In tomorrow's test, the government standard-bearer is Mr. A. W. Harrison, and his only opponent is Mr. R. M. Chapman, who is carrying the C.C.F. colors.

At the beginning of this year the Coalition divided its supporters as follows: Liberal-Progressive, 24; Conservative, 12; Independent, 6; Social Credit, 3; C.C.F., 3—48 out of the Legislature's total of 55 members. Two Conservatives, one Independent and one Worker comprised an opposition of only four. Three seats were vacant. It will be remembered, of course, that the C.C.F. Party severed its association with the Coalition government on the retirement of Premier Bracken and his assumption of the leadership of the Progressive Conservative Party of Canada.

Speaking at Cartwright on Friday night, Premier Stuart Garson told the electors that the C.C.F. had violated the people's mandate by withdrawing its support from the non-partisan administration which it had "assisted in creating." Regardless of the merits or demerits of this charge, the action of the C.C.F. in Manitoba is not surprising. It fits in with the attitude of the party in British Columbia. Only a short time ago, oppositionists in the local Legislature had much criticism of parties as such, and especially the "old" parties. But leading C.C.F. speakers in the Revelstoke by-election campaign emphatically warned their audiences against considering the qualifications of "the man." It was "the party" only that mattered. This principle evidently is to go to the test tomorrow in Killarney.

100 Years Old

THIS NEWSPAPER EXTENDS ITS heartiest congratulations to the Ottawa Citizen on its arrival, last Saturday, at the ripe old age of 100 years. But this celebration of a century of useful work, finds our contemporary in sound health and exuding optimism and faith in Canada's future. It is an important member of the Southern chain of newspapers whose influence on Canadian thought has made itself felt through the years and whose service to the reading public has given it a reputation of which it may well be proud. The Citizen began its life in 1843 as the Packet, when Ottawa was called Bytown; six years later it assumed its present name, and 46 years ago William Southam of Hamilton acquired the property. In its first 100 years it has witnessed many social, political and economic changes in the world; by the time another century has gone by those may be regarded as inconsequential in comparison with the super-streamlined state of affairs in 2043. May the Citizen still be going strong in that far-off day.

Instead of "flat as a pancake" it is now timely to say "flat as Dueseldorf."

From what we hear, this year it will be as the Peterborough Examiner puts it, "strawberry shortcake."

Rome broadcasts that the Mediterranean is and will remain Italy's "Mare Nostrum." But elsewhere the opinion is that the old blue "mare" ain't what she used to be.

THE BRITISH

THE OTHER night, because I had taken an interest in them, however misguided, the boys at the Royal Air Force camp at Patricia Bay asked me out for the evening. We talked long and earnestly about the larger problems of the time and especially about the relations between Canadians and Britons. Our conclusion, in brief, was that both races are likely to survive in friendship for a long time yet, but that their differences are marked.

What strikes you first of all about the R.A.F. is its extraordinary youth. A man of middle age feels like a doddering ancient among these lads who have the responsibility of running a very large and important organization, and many of whom have been through the Battle of Britain. I do not suppose that in the far-flung reaches of this war you would discover a finer lot of fellows.

But the most interesting thing, to a Canadian, is to find a group of Canadians, both officers and non-coms within the ranks of the Royal Air Force. They illustrate the thought which first prompted this great exchange of views between me and the R.A.F.—namely, the adjustments which a man must make when he goes from Canada to Britain or from Britain to Canada.

One Canadian who has been in the R.A.F. for several years told me that when he first went to serve in England he hated every minute of it. The peculiarities of the English almost drove him crazy. But within six months he had accepted all of them and adopted most of them and now is eager to get back to England and into action.

His theory, which may be the true explanation of the whole business, is that when British boys first come out here they hate the country, as I have suspected from talking to them along the road; but after six months or so, when they have finally accepted Canadian methods and manners, they get along all right.

It was suggested that when I picked up R.A.F. boys on the road and gave them a lift I had not secured a fair sample of the whole camp. Nevertheless, it is obviously quite true most of the British boys, however they may like Canadians, are eager to return home and have no intention of staying in Canada or coming back here after the war. It is to be noted, though, that a minority have married here, a few have acquired land and intend to settle in Canada when the show is over.

CURIOUS SYSTEM

THE THING in Canada which most puzzles the Brits is our liquor system, and no wonder, since it is the most insane in the world. They are accustomed to a system of pubs where men drink beer slowly. They find here a system of dens where people drink beer as rapidly as possible, with the main object of getting drunk, which is not the objective of British drinking. They find also a taste for hard liquor which is not so widely known among the working people of Britain.

They do not complain about this system, but they are surprised at it, and they say that they fall into our habit, if they are not careful, of tossing off as much beer as fast as possible before the supply in the beer parlors runs out. They think frankly there is far more public drunkenness here than in England and they do not favor it. There is not much complaint either against the liquor ration, though it is a pretty drastic limitation on a fellow accustomed to a reasonable bottle of beer a day.

They like the surroundings here. They think that they are more beautiful even than England and they even like our climate this year, not realizing that the weather is the worst on record. After England it doesn't seem bad. They also like the girls here and the private families which entertain them in their homes. They think Canadians are hospitable, even if some of their fashions strike them as peculiar. But England is home and it is always calling to them.

TALENTS

SOME OF THE Canadians who joined the Royal Air Force before the war and are now veterans would like to transfer to the Royal Canadian Air Force because they want to make a permanent career of flying. They are unable to do so and this is a cause of great disappointment. But perhaps they are serving a more valuable purpose than they realize by being in the R.A.F. These Canadians have done more to explain the character of Canada to the Brits, simply by being themselves, than any propaganda could do.

The R.A.F., however, does its best to educate the Brits in Canadian affairs. Books and papers on Canada are widely distributed through the mess. The Patriotic, the excellent monthly magazine published at Pat Bay, is full of information about Canada, served in most attractive form by clever writers and by artists who would be first class in any magazine. The camp, indeed, abounds in the talents of painting, sculpture, pottery and entertainment.

Entertainment, by the way, seems to be extremely adequate. There are at least three movie shows a week, with occasional special showings of Canadian pictures, and there are dances which introduce Canadians to the camp.

British airmen are paid the same basic wage as Canadians but non-commissioned officers, from corporals up, pay British income tax. On a sergeant's pay of $88, for example, the British tax is about $10 a month. Canadians do not pay a tax.

"There never was any heart truly great and generous that was not also tender and compassionate."—South.

Canada No Place for Hapsburg Plotting

From Halifax Herald

REPEATEDLY, Canadian citizens with knowledge of the facts and circumstances have had occasion to protest against the publication in the capital of this Dominion of a monthly magazine called the Voice of Austria. The main purpose of that propaganda medium (for that is what it is) is restoration of the Hapsburg monarchy in the Danubian Basin, but it has many side issues, among them exculpation of the wretched Vichy regime.

Some months ago, when the Canadian protests were becoming louder and more insistent, the Voice of Austria was moved back across the American border to New York, from which centre it is now published. And Canadians say, "Good riddance!" We want no propaganda of that description emanating from the capital of this country or any part of this country.

CONTINUOUSLY "Canadians are asked to read literature on the Hapsburgs prepared in or disseminated in this Dominion. (The Hapsburg family live in this Dominion the greater part of the time. Otto, head of the household, Pretender to the throne of the old Austro-Hungarian empire, styled "the Emperor" by his partisans, has offices in New York and Washington.)

Let it be said at once that the Canadian people have no quarrel with the ex-Empress or any of her family as guests and individuals, but few Canadians—few democratic people in this world—can view with any equanimity a prospect of restoration of the Hapsburg monarchy as such. We do not forget the character of that monarchy in the old ramshackle empire or that it launched the ruthless ultimatum against Serbia that precipitated the War of 1914-18. If the members of the Hapsburg family wish to live in Canada, quietly and privately as men and women, well and good—but if they, or their partisans, persist in any European political propaganda from this "base," then the Canadian people are going to continue their protests until it is stopped entirely.

When members of the Hapsburg family, or anyone speaking for them or their "back-to-the-throne program," refer in Canada to Otto as "the Emperor," they are going much too far. There are a lot of people in the Danubian Basin who would view with dismay any possibility of a Hapsburg restoration. The people of the Succession States are dead against it. What the Austrian people themselves think about it is for the after-war years to reveal. As matters stand today, Austria is a part of the German Reich; its citizens are fighting as our enemies in the German armies at the behest of the Austrian-born Hitler—and there is no possibility of any immediate test of Austrian opinion on this or any other question.

And it is out of the pull-hauling and amblings of European factions that fresh wars are made.

SMOKING COURTESY

By GRACE MARTIN.

When you and a match and a cigarette meet, can you take care of the situation? Or does your meeting constitute a first-class social hazard, not to mention a fire hazard?

After your cigarette is lighted, do you drop your smoking match to smudge wherever it falls? Do you leave your cigarette burning in the ashtray, until it tips out and burns a hole in the table?

Some people are mindful of the fire hazards of a cigarette, but they are less careful about its social hazards. They talk with a cigarette in their lips or let ashes drop. Smoking is so much a part of social life now, that it means a lot in the way your friends regard you.

HALIFAX ON PRAYER

Lord Halifax at Laval University.

Man's real need now, said Lord Halifax, "was a knowledge how to open his heart to God in prayer. Prayer, through which at all times and in all places men may speak to God with complete assurance of perfect understanding. Prayer, by which men may feel their own weakness made strong by the support of God's sovereign power." Lord Halifax said it was "small wonder" if men and women throughout the world are ill at ease if they have lost "in their greatest need" the knowledge of how to pray.

"Anyone who reads the newspapers or looks in luxury-shop windows should be able to understand how easily the Germans can believe their own thesis that Britain is starving. Here are four illustrations collected since March 1: Fresh-water eels at 7s. 6d. per pound; queues for horseflesh steaks at 1s. a pound; mushrooms at 12s. 6d. a pound; tomatoes at 11 a pound. Doubtless other observers could greatly extend the list.

Millions In Health

Public health and factory surveys in Canada show that a yearly loss of $50,000,000 in wages is being sustained by Canadian workers as a direct result of time lost through sickness and non-industrial, preventable accidents. A further sum of $75,000,000 annually is lost by employers in terms of production value for the same reason. It is pointed out by medical authorities that these losses in wartime are particularly serious in view of the vital necessity for all-out production.

War plants in the Dominion where sickness prevention programs have been instituted have, by actual statistics, been able to appreciably reduce losses in both production and wages, proving beyond any doubt the essentiality of such programs.

A major forward step in educating the Canadian public to the need for such programs in Canadian plants and factories is the Institute of Public Health to be held in three Ontario cities this month under the auspices of the Health League of Canada. This will consist of three one-day conferences to be held progressively. The first will be held in Toronto on Oct. 21, the second in Hamilton on Oct. 22 and the third in London on Oct. 23. Plans for further conferences in other Canadian centres has already been indicated.

Special emphasis will be placed upon the whole subject of industrial health during these meetings. Prominent authorities representing government, industry, labor and medicine will address the various sessions of each conference. These will include: Miss Agnes Macphail, Hon. Cairine Wilson, Dr. W. A. Sawyer, medical director, Eastman Kodak Co., Rochester, N.Y.; Dr. Gordon Bates, general director, Health League of Canada; Dr. J. G. Cunningham, D.P.H., director, Industrial Health Division, Ontario Department of Health, and many others.

Historic Organ Now in Archives

A small organ that came from England years ago, was played in miners' cabins in the far north during gold rush days, and later went to England via Panama Canal and return, is now in the Provincial Archives, where it has a place of honor.

It was presented to the Archives by Mrs. David Doig, a daughter of the late Dr. I. W. Powell, pioneer Victorian. The organ was owned by Mr. Doig, having been presented to him by a prospector in 1908 at St. Michael's, Alaska, where Mr. Doig was manager of the Bank of British North America.

Mr. Doig, who was fond of music, carried the organ with him on his travels in the north and brought it back to Victoria with him. For years it was in the bank home, where he lived, on Fairfield Road, near Cook.

In 1923 Mr. and Mrs. Doig made a trip to England, via the Panama, on Ms. Loch Goll. Mrs. Doig had secretly packed the organ and had it shipped aboard. A few days out, Mr. Doig mentioned how nice it would have been if the organ was aboard. Promptly Mrs. Doig produced it. Among the passengers were Maj.

and Mrs. Wollaston, the latter having brought along her violin. So, with violin and organ, the passengers had an enjoyable month's voyage to Europe.

When Mr. and Mrs. Doig went to the continent they left the organ at their London hotel and brought it back to Victoria with them. It was made by E. Walcott, Circus Road, London, N.W.

It is the second historic upright musical instrument in the Archives, the rosewood piano owned by Mrs. E. W. Mallandaine being also there. It arrived here in 1862 from England aboard the Tynemouth, aboard which Mrs. Mallandaine, as Miss Louise Townsend, was a passenger.

Victorians Reported Prisoners at Singapore

Three Canadians whose next of kin are reported living in Victoria were included in a list of prisoners interned by Japanese at Changi Camp on the island of Singapore. There were a total of 24 names on the list. Two of those with relatives here had not been previously reported; they are:

J. H. B. Will, whose mother, Mrs. W. B. Will, is listed as living at 3170 Frechette Street, and George Wiseman, who next of kin is reported as his brother-in-law, E. R. Johnson, Royal Oak P.O.

Already reported was G. W. Piercy, whose wife lives at 1284 Beach Drive.

2 Past Presidents Of C.M.A. On Visit

Two past presidents of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, Maj. L. L. Anthes of Toronto and Capt. Frank C. Brown of Vancouver, were in town Saturday.

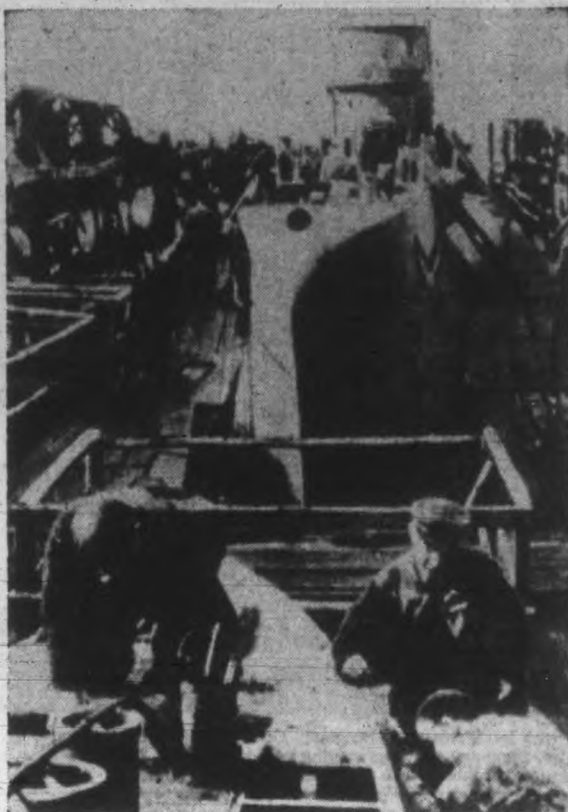

Maj. Anthes is head of the important foundry company bearing his name and Capt. Brown is managing director of Canada Western Cordage Company Ltd.

As honorary treasurer of the National Constructive Council, Maj. Anthes is interested in post-war reconstruction.

"Postwar reconstruction is a big problem," he said. "We are making progress, however, in a general survey of conditions throughout Canada."

Maj. Anthes and Capt. Brown were scheduled to proceed up island Sunday.

Saturday, in company with J. Y. McCarter of McCarter and Nairne, supervising architects for Wartime Housing projects in British Columbia, and P. Leonard James, Victoria representative, they visited Royal Naval College at Hatley Park and also inspected the Wartime Housing scheme here.

NAZIS SAY SUBS 'MUSHROOMING'—As the Allies announced that we're sinking enemy submarines faster than ever, Germany attempted to bolster home morale by publishing this photo of the launching of a new U-boat. Premier to Press For Work in North

A drive to tie up British Columbia with the tremendous development expected in Alaska and the Yukon after the war will get into full swing, led by Premier John Hart, at a meeting in Vancouver next Wednesday of the joint committee of the Vancouver Board of Trade and the Seattle Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Hart said today the meeting will discuss northern highways, railways and the general development of the north country.

"We plan to see the development of the north country is kept for the people of British Columbia," he said.

The Premier is backed by influential interests in Washington, Oregon and California, who wish to see a highway go through the centre portion of this province, thus linking Los Angeles, Portland and Seattle in a direct line with Alaska and the Yukon.

'Y' Camp Thunderbird Opens July 16-30

Y.M.C.A. Camp Thunderbird at Glinz Lake in the Sooke Hills will open July 16-30, it was announced today, and young Victoria boys between the ages of 10 and 17 who plan to attend for one or two weeks are already registering at the "Y."

Swimming, hikes, games and campfire sessions are just a few of the items on Camp Thunderbird's full program which will commence daily at 7.30 in the morning with "Rise and Shine," and close in the evening at 9.30 with taps.

"The camp will be under the direction of Grant M. Paterson, member of the Boys' Work Committee and the board of directors of the Victoria 'Y,' who has been assistant director of Camp Thunderbird for 10 years," officials said today.

Registrations should be in the office by July 10 and a Y.M.C.A. membership is not required. Jack Syme and Allan Brown will assist Mr. Paterson as senior leaders during the camping season. The fees are $8 a week, $16 for the full two-week period.

"We regard Camp Thunderbird as one of our special functions in wartime, to afford as many boys as possible the opportunity to develop sound, healthy bodies and keen minds; to develop the qualities of leadership and the art of living together," S. J. D. Clack, chairman of the Y.M.C.A. boys' committee, and Dr. J. M. Thomas, chairman of the Y.M.C.A. camp committee, stated.

Life-saving, first aid, model aircraft building, knots and splices, signaling and woodcraft will be among the activities at the camp included in the "interest groups."

Camp Thunderbird is owned by the Victoria Y.M.C.A. and consists of 320 acres of land at 1,000 feet elevation, 20 miles from Victoria in the Sooke hills. Campers live in wall tents with board floors and each tent group is under a leader.

HOW TO RELIEVE PILE TORTURE QUICKLY AND EASILY

If you are troubled with itching piles or rectal soreness, do not delay treatment and run the risk of letting this condition become chronic. Any itching or soreness or painful passage of stool is nature's warning and proper treatment should be secured at once.

For this purpose get a package of Hem-Roid from Modern Pharmacy and Cunningham Drug Stores—or any druggist—and use as directed. This formula which is used internally is a small, easy to take tablet, will quickly relieve the itching and soreness and aid in healing the sore tender spots. Hem-Roid is pleasant to use, is highly recommended and it seems the height of folly for any one to risk a painful and chronic pile condition when such a fine remedy may be had at such a small cost.

If you try Hem-Roid and are not entirely pleased with the results, your druggist will gladly return your money.

Meeting to Protest Wine and Pop Sugar

Sidney Pickles, president of District A, Farmers' Institute, today announced that as a result of requests and the receipt Friday of a highly unsatisfactory letter from the Food Administrator, Ottawa, it has been decided to call a public meeting Thursday evening at 8 in the Chamber of Commerce.

"The report by the Vancouver Sugar Administration that the sugar used in Canada's wineries only amounts to 1/4 of an ounce per week per capita, is simply a ludicrous example of a desperate effort to seek out a small figure to try and make the amount of sugar used for wine-making appear inconsequential," Mr. Pickles said.

JOE: "Pay day! Boy, I was down to my last nickel!"

ANN: "What do you do with all your money?"

JOE: "Run the house, keep the family, pay my life insurance, and BUY WAR SAVINGS CERTIFICATES AND BONDS."

ANN: "Same here! We're saving money, we've learned to be regular old misers and enjoy it!"

JOE: "That's our job. I heard a fellow say the other day that this war is on the home front, too—that we in Canada have a big part to play in keeping prices down. He said something about buying only the things we need."

TED: "That makes sense to me. If we keep on building up a demand for things we can do without, the people working to produce goods for civilians won't be able to supply them fast enough, and prices will go sky-high."

JOE: "Exactly! This fellow said that inflation was the big fight on the home front and the only way to beat it was to buy just the things we really need, and keep our spending down by saving every dollar we can from our earnings. I figure that's a lot easier to do if I buy War Savings Certificates and Bonds regularly and HOLD ON TO THEM!"

Tea Raises $335 To Aid Chinese

More than $335 was realized for the famine sufferers in the Honan-Shansi area, China, at a tea held Saturday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. G. Clark, Denison Road, Gonzales Heights, and arranged by the Committee for Medical Aid to China.

Mrs. Clark showed visitors her collection of Chinese treasures, and related interesting legends pertaining to different pieces. Tea was served in the dining room, Mrs. A. D. Muskett, Miss U. Caldicott, Mrs. Y. Stevenson, Mrs. Jung Yick Ching and Mrs.

E. B. Chan presiding during the afternoon. A number of Chinese were present in their national dress as well as members of the Chinese Youth Association. Mr. Robert Lowe and Miss Josephine Wong were in charge of the grocery contest. A white elephant stall also did a brisk business and fortune telling proved a popular attraction.

The convener of the successful party was Mrs. C. Normar, who was ably assisted by members of the committee.

Sunshine Camp Opening Planned

Family Welfare Association held its board meeting at Welfare House recently. E. H. Wilson in the chair. Financial report was presented by Mr. N. F. Ferris. Mr. Wilson read the report of the case committee, in the absence of the chairman, Rev. F. Comley.

Sunshine Camp committee report was read by Alderman W. H. Davies. Regret was expressed at the resignation of J. Goldie from the board and from the Sunshine Camp committee. Mr. Goldie, over a long number of years, had not only helped the association generally but had also shown a keen and active interest in the camp. Ord Butters was chosen to fill the vacancy on house and camp committees occasioned by Mr. Goldie's resignation.

Mr. Butters reported on a recent visit to Sunshine Camp, stating fruit trees and hedge planted last autumn had made good growth and the camp victory garden was thriving. Owing to spring storms a good deal of repair work to roofs of the main building and cabins would have to be undertaken immediately. Plans for this work to be carried out were in hand. It was noted that the erection of a summer house by the beach had been made possible by a generous anonymous donation.

The following arrangements have been made for the camping season: July 15-July 29, St. John Ambulance Corps; Aug. 3-Aug. 12, the sightless; Aug. 12-Aug. 26, mothers and children; Aug. 26-Sept. 2, senior citizens. Camp staff appointments were announced as follows: Mrs. G. Hughes, R.N., camp director and nurse; Miss G. Simpson, assistant director; Miss Enid Wallace and Miss Mary Tucker, recreation assistants; Mrs. D. Hurst, cook.

The statistical report was presented by the general secretary, Mrs. A. I. Spugin. Of 142 referrals during the month 95 had been in connection with the dependents' board of trustees. Joseph McKenna, honorary solicitor, discussed the plight of unmarried mothers who were expected to assume support of their illegitimate children, but were not considered eligible for income tax exemption. It was felt that this matter should receive earnest consideration, and that the opinions of the board of directors should be forwarded to the Canadian Welfare Council.

Junior's Thrift Shop Sale to Aid Hospital

A timely opportunity to buy summer clothes is offered the Victoria people by the Thrift Shop committee of the Junior Women's Auxiliary to the Royal Jubilee Hospital. The convener, Mrs. D. H. Frith, announces that a half-price sale of every article in the shop will be held Wednesday morning, June 23, and Saturday morning, June 26. The shop is located at 601 1/2 Cormorant Street, next to the Public Market.

The popular store is so well stocked, the committee stated, a clearance sale was thought advisable to clear the shelves for more articles. Only the best second-hand clothing is handled and among the stock are many war-restricted articles. Among the hundred and one articles for sale are men's suits, shoes, shirts, underwear; ladies' dresses, corsets, blouses, undergarments, stockings, shoes; babies' wools, children's clothes, picture frames, books, cosmetics and toys.

The committee also announces that owing to popular demand the shop will remain open during the summer months. Members will be in attendance every Wednesday morning of each week during July and August.

P.T.A. Honor Graduates

Honoring the graduating class and their parents, the P.T.A. of Sir James Douglas held a tea recently. The auditorium and tables were decorated with flowers in the school colors, purple and gold. Mrs. Robt. Husband convened the tea and Mrs. A. Martin was responsible for the decorations. Mrs. Henry B. Howard, Mrs. H. J. Cunningham and Mrs. W. H. Yardley received the guests. At the head table were Mr. W. H. Wilson, Mrs. H. B. Howard, Mrs. H. L. Campbell, Mrs. A. H. C. Phipps, Mrs. A. S. Christie and the teaching staff. Mrs. W. H. Wilson poured tea at the guest table which seated the wives of members of the school board and Mrs. H. L. Campbell.

The principal welcomed the guests and introduced John Canova, who acted as chairman. Eileen Smith gave the valedictory address, followed by Betty Thompson, on school sports, and Marnie Wilson, on the war effort. Don Smith, extended a vote of thanks to the P.T.A., which was responded to by Mrs. H. B. Howard. Frances Crees said grace.

The girls staged an interesting display of frocks made in their sewing class.

Mrs. A. S. Christie, regent of Sir James Douglas Chapter I.O.D.E., presented prizes from that chapter to Douglas McHugh, Lorna Lee and Eileen Smith. Mrs. A. H. C. Phipps, municipal regent I.O.D.E., presented the Sarah Maxwell prize, from the National Chapter I.O.D.E., to Joyce Currie.

A garden party under the auspices of St. Mark's W.A. will be held at the home of Mrs. H. A. Giles, 590 Boleskine Road, Wednesday. Usual stalls will be featured, and the evening branch of the W.A. will convene a superfluity stall. St. Mark's W.A. meeting has been postponed until June 29.

Chili Con Carne

Both as a "meat extender" and a "meat-user-upper," this is an aid to the menu

Beans—so important a part of Chili Con Carne—are one of the valuable meat alternates. And of course you can grind or dice meat trimmings or meat leftovers—using lean meat only—to provide the "carne" or meat. The recipe given will give you a mild chili—those of you who like "hot" dishes can double the amount of chili powder, or you might try adding paprika to taste.

The amount of meat—these days—is variable, too. If you have less meat, increase the beans' proportion and you will still have a nutritionally valuable dish. A cool salad—shredded cabbage and diced apple would be grand—is a delicious contrast to follow the chili. If you eat a hearty slice of Canada Approved bread with the meal and drink a glass of milk, you will have gone a long way to getting your daily minimum requirements of protective foods.

CHILI CON CARNE AMERICAN STYLE

Approximately 6 servings

1 lb. Kidney or Navy beans
4 large mild onions
1 lb. diced raw meat
2-4 tablespoons chili powder
4 tablespoons lard or shortening
1 tin (2½ cups) tomato juice
Salt, pepper and garlic or garlic salt to taste

Wash and look over beans; soak overnight in cold water. Simmer gently in same water until tender. If you use raw meat, brown in hot fat then cook onions gently until delicately browned. (If cooked meat is used, brown onions first then add meat and sauté gently 3 minutes). Add the beans (including their liquid, probably 3½ to 4 cups), tomato and seasonings. Simmer gently to blend flavours thoroughly. (For especially delicious flavour and to dehydrate with overnight soaking you might try one of the brands of dehydrated beans now on the market—follow directions on packet).

MEAT RATIONING MADE EASY

With this McGavin Ration Easing Recipe No. 4

Keeping your family well fed with less meat on your daily menus is a problem to which you are giving much thought these days. The solution lies in using those foods of which there is a plentiful supply and which help to maintain the nutritional balance of the meals you serve. By combining a little meat with these foods, you use your meat ration coupons to the best advantage. Try, for instance, the recipe shown at the right. Your family will like this and other delicious baked dishes, and you'll find them easy to make. For food value as well as flavor, McGavin's Good Bread, white or brown, makes an acceptable addition to any meal. It's wholesome and nourishing, with a fine but firm texture which makes it ideal for toast and sandwiches. McGavin's Good Bread is always fresh at your grocer's. Ask him for it to-day.

HOT LAYERED LOAF

1 loaf of bread
Cooked meat (left-over corned beef, roasted or stewed beef, lamb, etc.)
Savory brown sauce
1 large can tomatoes
Seasonings.

Remove all six crusts thinly from loaf of bread. Cut loaf in five or six lengthwise slices. Make enough savory brown sauce (seasoned well with salt, pepper and scraped onion) to dress an amount of sliced meat—using as some of the liquid in the sauce, part of the juice drained from the tomatoes. Dice meat small and add to the sauce just long enough to heat it. Use the meat and gravy as generous filling between some of the layers of bread (serve any extra gravy in heated gravy-boat). Fill other layers with hot tomato pulp or tender and yellow fried onions or fried mushrooms. When the whole loaf is assembled, pour thickened stewed tomatoes (seasoned with salt, pepper, a little sugar and if needed, a little onion) over the top. Serves eight.

The function was attended by approximately 150 old boys and friends as well as the students.

R. E. Bailey, head prefect, opened the function with a prayer and the lesson. Rev. G. H. Scarrett, headmaster, presented his annual report, the 37th in the history of the school, and stated all activities had been continued despite difficulties encountered through war conditions.

Archbishop Harding, in a well-rounded address flavored with humor, spoke of schools of other days and emphasized the call for Christian gentlemen in the world today. There was, he said, great need for leadership in thought, faith, words, wisdom, deeds, courage and service.

In His Saanich Gardens, Bruce Receives News Of Top Literary Award

By IRIS SMALLWOOD

"Don't regard me as an author or any nonsense of that kind."

With this characteristically laconic warning Bruce Hutchison, in the rambling grounds of his Saanich home, Rockholme, today greeted the news of his award of the Governor-General's Medal for Canadian creative non-fiction. He won the honor with his book "The Unknown Country," which is, to use his own words, "an interpretation of Canada to the American people as much as anything."

Taking the news of his literary success with almost studied nonchalance, Mr. Hutchison, who, despite his youth, is referred to across Canada as "The Sage of Saanich," only showed his hands deeper in the pockets of his old grey flannels.

"I'm still a newspaperman," he said, "that's my work—and I do have to work at that."

"Of course," he added as his eyes roved over the rows of green shoots that make up his Victory garden. "If I didn't have this place outside I probably wouldn't get anything done. I get all my ideas outside. It's hard to work inside a house, I find."

Asked if he had a regular routine for work or whether he acted on inspiration, Mr. Hutchison smiled and shook his head. "Dr. Johnson said, 'Sit down and write doggedly—even if it's not good,' and that's what I do. I like to have set hours, but take this week—it was utterly ruined because of a lot of engagements."

GARDEN STROLL

We were wandering around the garden, and as he talked Mr. Hutchison plucked the odd weed from the path that zig-zagged over the flower-studded rockery.

"My father put most of this in," the famous columnist offered generously, "but it takes some keeping up." He explained it had to be rebuilt every two or three years so that every bit of earth is kept nutritious.

"It's going all to hell," he said, his disgust leading him into the vernacular as he plucked one or two worm-eaten leaves off a rose bush. "That's because I've been away so much the last few weeks."

Mr. Hutchison recently returned from one of his regular trips to New York, Washington and Ottawa to "skim the news" and collect data for his articles. In a couple of weeks he will be off with his family to his mountain lake summer pavilion at Shawnigan for the vacation months.

"I'm not out here just communing with nature," he said humorously. "I'm still concerned with politics, you know." Looking at me through his silver-rimmed glasses he seemed so mild a man, so ardent a garden-lover, that his next remark seemed paradoxical: "I'm constantly in trouble with politicians all over the place."

However, with his uncompromising political convictions and his notorious frankness this is only natural. Besides, there are rumors to the effect that he can be very gruff, though there was no indication of this aspect of his nature during the interview.

On a tour of the garden, which embraced lawns, rock garden, vegetable garden and masses of color in the cleverly-placed flower beds, Mr. Hutchison proudly pointed out a peculiarly-shaped rock basin he had "fixed" into a crook of the rock garden to form a little bird bath; and he showed me a miniature waterfall, and his pet frog.

In a lily pool set beside a low-lying Japanese maple he leaned down to catch the glint of a couple of goldfish.

"They have been here for 20 years," he said triumphantly. Almost part of the family.

The Hutchison household has two younger members, Joan, busily studying for high school exams, and Robert, whose 12th birthday it is today. They are the famed "little girl" and "little boy" next door.

"They used to practically keep me," Mr. Hutchison recalled. "I used to get a lot of copy out of them when they were little. They always did the queerest things—but now they're too old and resent any references in the paper."

DATA ON MRS. NOGGINS

At the mention of his brain-child, Mrs. Noggins, the quaint character who patters philosophically down the Bruce Hutchison column, the modern Pygmalion smiled. His Galatea is apparently very much alive.

"Sure, she's a real old lady round about here. But I don't think she knows she's the original Mrs. Noggins. Don't suppose she ever reads a paper even."

"I trot over to see her when I want some new ideas," he confessed. "Why shouldn't I? I get paid for it. That's more than I do when I'm talking to you, young lady."

Flattered by his method of address but frightened by his semi-threatening tone I hastened to apologize.

"Don't bother," he said airily. "I was a reporter for many long years myself. On the Times, too. 'Yes,' he added, reflectively, 'I'm one of the oldest Times. I've been working for them the last 25 years.'"

This is in addition to being editorial writer for the Vancouver Sun and a regular contributor to at least eight newspapers and several magazines. Another article is coming out in Fortune soon as a matter of fact.

"Yes, I'm writing another book," he admitted, patiently answering the staccato of questions fired at him. "The title? Ah, that's a mystery. But I'll tell you this much—it's about Canada."

With his mystery story and his beloved garden (of which he said, "It's the only useful thing I've ever done") the now famous Canadian writer was left picking more dead leaves off a rose bush, no doubt contemplating the problems of the postwar world, or perhaps wondering what Mrs. Noggins will say when she sees the bright new Governor-General's medal.

King Greet's Girl Who Aided Allies; She Hid 30 Escapees

By RELMAN MORIN
Representing the Combined United States Press

WITH THE KING'S PARTY IN TUNISIA (Delayed). (AP)—The victory at Pantelleria was brought home to King George Friday when he passed several hundred Italian prisoners from the island while he was inspecting a north African military headquarters.

The King has been reviewing Allied forces in north Africa.

He was visiting a Guards regiment when he saw the prisoners in a field across from the main building along with a smaller contingent of Germans. The King walked out of the building to where he could get a better view of them.

He saw plenty of evidence of the earlier triumphs in Tunisia on his tour today. His car passed slowly through the Tunis dock area, through whole blocks of wrecked buildings, piles of rubble and twisted girders.

He was shown a gargantuan German tiger tank which is still sitting on one street. He climbed up the side and peered into the insides of the monster and then asked to see how the main gun turret worked.

After he had finished with the tank he walked across the street toward a group of French boy scouts with the French Gen. Barre, commander of the French troops in Tunisia.

GIRL HONORED

As they approached a priest in a white cassock ran up to Gen. Barre and said something and then ran back into the crowd. When he reappeared the priest was leading a pretty little French girl by the hand. On her white blouse was the Croix de Guerre.

Proudly the general presented her to the King. Her name was Pauline Bartolla. She was 16. She had received the Croix de Guerre for having hidden 30 Allied prisoners who had escaped from the Germans while Tunis was still held by the Germans.

In French the King asked her to tell him about it. She smiled gravely and said only a few words. Then she bowed and shook hands again and he went back to the car.

FLIGHT AT FRONT

The King flew well within the range of Axis fighter-bombers Thursday on an inspection trip that carried him across northern Algeria and into the forward areas of Tunisia.

His airplane reached one of the R.A.F. bases early in the morning. There, after inspecting troops and long lines of airmen, he entered a tent and gave the accolade which formally knighted Sir Hugh Lloyd, air vice-marshal commanding the north African coastal air force.

He then entered his car and started across country, through fields that are already peacefully under cultivation, although dotted here and there with the twisted skeletons of Axis aircraft and trucks and cars.

Civilian Wounded In S.F. Blackout

SAN FRANCISCO (CP)—The San Francisco Bay area underwent a 40-minute blackout at the week-end, the first one in more than a year.

The sirens sounded at 1.07 a.m. P.D.T., Sunday and the clear came at 1.47 a.m. The Western Defence Command announced only that the alarm had come as the result of an unidentified target approaching the area. It later was identified as friendly.

Acting Civilian Defence Director John McKown said "there undoubtedly were signs of weakness in the response."

Reports turned into the police department said lights burned from 10 to 20 minutes after the alarm was given at Fort Mason, the Presidio, and the shipyards at Richmond, across the Bay.

Harry Hennig, 25, civilian workman at Hunter's Point naval drydock, was struck by a stray bullet when, the navy said, guards fired at an exposed light. The navy said his condition was not serious.

Sports Mirror

By ART STOTT

WHEN you analyze it, there's something fine in the way Victoria sports organizations have been going to bat for the crippled children at the Queen Alexandra Solarium. Current fixtures, those in the future and those in the past, help authorities at Mill Bay carry on one of the inspiring works of a world which is not without its shabbiness. The sportsmen's participation which occasionally brightens the athletic picture, make you realize there's a lot more than brawn and physical ability in contests on the playing field.

This is not to suggest that athletes race out on their respective fields with lumps in their throats and mistletoe eyes, contrasting the sturdiness of their limbs with the twisted legs of the little tots up-land. Athletes, as a rule, aren't given to such displays of emotion. But it is written in sincere appreciation of their contribution to a great cause. While they don't sentimentalize over the question, the boys and girls with good arms and legs and straight backs and the officials who handle them, do give a thought to those less fortunate.

Tuesday night the V.M.D. and R.A.F. soccer teams, which have been playing bang-up games in a series already three games old without a decision, meet to swell the Solarium ante a little more. Incidentally they hope to make the fixture a deciding one after last Thursday's draw at Macdonald Park.

On Friday the Victoria cross-country group will open its season with a ceremony at Stephenson Memorial Park, with proceeds going to the Solarium.

Some time in August Babe Didrickson and Patty Berg are scheduled to give a golf exhibition at Oak Bay to contribute further to the funds.

Primarily these events benefit the institution financially. But they do more; they give Victoria's sporting world a chance to salute a grand little group of courageous youngsters who are beating back fear and overcoming physical defects to become useful and happy members of society.

You give a fellow a name in sport and it usually sticks. Mr. and Mrs. George Andrews named their second son George Lloyd Andrews. But even before he started to star on the Victoria High School basketball court, George Jr. became "Porky". And "Porky" he remained through senior city basketball and through college play at the University of Oregon. He was "Porky" too, on the track field and in other branches of sport.

That is the reason his graduation and commissioning at Saskatoon was missed by most of his Victoria athletic friends. The announcement covering the event was further complicated by a stenographic error which gave his initials as "F.L." But the pilot officer recently posted to Yarmouth, N.S., with the fleet air arm was and is "Porky" Andrews. And his friends are glad to know he's doing well down there.

In the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association stipulations for its rowboat fishing competition next Sunday, there is a clause which appears baffling at first glance.

"Row boats," it says, "must not be towed back if entrants have fish to be weighed in."

Ever since that unfortunate affair in Seattle when a fish derby ended in a court case and an international scandal, the uninitiated have been a little chary over competitions and organizers have been a little stricter in their

That section might suggest there may be grounds for rumors once current that unscrupulous anglers caught fish, went below and fed them pounds and pounds of lead weights on the way in to the weighing machine.

But there is no such inference in the clause. It is simply one to equalize opportunity to fishermen. A member rowing to the weigh-in has to leave the fishing grounds well ahead of one who might come in under power. So the latter class may not fish longer and still get home under the time limit, all contestants must row.

Eagles Surprise

The worm toiled at the Athletic Park Saturday evening and when it did it looked like a python.

Trailing along unappetizingly for 10 games without a victory, Eagles' ball club came through in a blaze of glory behind Ray Maitland's respectable pitching and hammered the league-leading Victoria Machinery Depot 9 to 6 in a fixture which was balm to the troubled hearts of the lodge-men.

In addition to vindicating Maitland, who lost a tough one in his first start of the season, the game showed the whole team in a better light and featured Reg. Clarkson, young outfielder who shagged them from all over his section of the lot.

Maitland struck out four and walked three, but he kept the 11 hits he allowed the shipbuilders well scattered and his field gave him good support.

Steve Dunc, starting for the V.M.D., allowed two hits for Cy Shillito, whose work was not effective enough to stop the bid in their victory parade. The Eagles took 13 safeties from the relief hurler and bunched them to count.

George Syrotuck, Eagles manager, played a smart game at second and gave his boys lots of inspiration.

ARMY BEATS AIRMEN
In the afternoon Army rose up in the eighth to score seven runs and whip the R.C.A.F. 11 to 7 despite a good rally by the airmen in the last of the ninth.

It was close for seven innings as the soldiers pushed across two runners in the second and third and the flyers replied with one in the fifth and two in the seventh. Then the fast-finishing soldiers took hold and the ball game went on the wings of song as the khaki-clads rattled around.

Jerry Whitney pitched eight and one-third innings for the army and allowed 13 hits and seven runs, before Bill Prior went in to check the onslaught.

Five C's, Navy Win Cricket Fixtures

Tom Harper and George Payne, with 48 and 57 respectively, led Five C's to a clear-cut decision over Albions at Beacon Hill Saturday as the Navy took the R.A.F. easily at Macdonald Park in two scheduled cricket games.

Churchmen scored 134 runs to win by 52 runs from the Albions, while the sailors' margin was 10 runs and six wickets over the airmen.

Apart from Payne and Harper, Five C's batsmen fared indifferently against Albions' bowling as Smith took six wickets for 36 runs in seven overs, and E. D. Freeman took three for 39 in 10 overs.

Albions failed to show much power at bat, Freeman being high man with 29, seven better than Seager, who finished the inning not out.

Jack Payne took five Albions' wickets for 44 runs in 10 overs, while Harper took four for 10 in three.

At Macdonald Park Edge and Pugh batted 60 and 40 respectively to lead the Navy in its victory over the R.A.F. With only four wickets gone, the sailors had passed the 117 total rolled up by the airmen and retired. For the fliers Webb scored 28, Chapman 22, Hall 37 and Davies 20 not out. Vale led the Navy bowlers with seven wickets for 47 in 10 overs, while Gooding took two for 53 in nine overs for the airmen.

BOEINGS GAIN FINAL

VANCOUVER (CP)—Boeings qualified to meet St. Saviours in the Mainland Cup final Saturday by downing St. Andrews, 3 to 2, in the remaining semi-final Saturday before a crowd of 1,200.

Although the aircraft builders only won by the odd goal in five, the score in no way represented their superiority. The Scots were woefully weak apart from Erling Storness and Gillie Brandolini, and were only in the picture for about 15 minutes in the second half when they scored their two goals.

Baseball Clubs Shuffled

Cleveland Third

This year's pennant race in the American League may become historic as the tightest from top to bottom that the major leagues have ever seen. The eight clubs are separated by a total of only eight games and six of them are bunched within 2½.

Startling shifts have been going on in the standings as a result. For instance Cleveland Indians, who were in seventh place before they started play Saturday, had soared into third at the close of competition Sunday.

Actually the teams are so closely bunched that their ranking in the standings are almost meaningless because several of them may move up or down two or three notches in a single day.

The greatest distance between any two clubs is three games separating the first place New York Yankees and the second place Washington Senators, yet in ordinary times would be considered a red-hot rivalry.

It is a pretty good one even now and Sunday, when the Yanks and Senators tangled in a doubleheader at Yankee Stadium, the best either could get was a draw. Washington won the first game 5 to 3 and New York took the second 7 to 6.

Cleveland and White Sox also split, Chicago nailing the first 10 to 6, with seven runs in the fourth inning to get Oval Grove his fourth victory without defeat, and the Indians capturing the second 7 to 2.

SWEET DOUBLEHEADER

Boston swept a doubleheader from Philadelphia Athletics 7 to 3 and 6 to 5 with an attack that included five home runs. Jim Tabor hit two to highlight the first game and Babe Barna hit one, with one on, to decide the second.

The St. Louis Browns downed Detroit twice, 6 to 3 and 5 to 4, with homers figuring importantly. Chit Laabs hit one with two aboard.

Boxla Opening Friday

Opening of Victoria's box lacrosse season will take place Friday night, when the R.C.A.F. and Victoria Dodgers, only two senior clubs entered, clash at the Stevenson Memorial Park, starting at 7.

Doug Fletcher, secretary of the league, announced today a working bee will be held at the outdoor box tomorrow night, starting at 6.30. The league wants as many boys as possible to turn out so the grounds can be put into first-class shape for the first game.

Both the Flyers and Dodgers have been working out for several weeks and their players should be in good shape. The air force will trot out a line-up that includes several of the finest players developed on the mainland.

Wins 5,000 Metres With Rice Second

NEW YORK (AP)—Gunder Haegg Sunday gave American track fans their first glimpse of the speed and stamina that carried him to seven world records as he soundly whipped the United States pride and joy, Gregory Rice, at the national A.A.U. championships.

The gaunt Swede set virtually all the pace in the 5,000-metre run and crossed the finish line 40 metres in front of Rice, going down to his first defeat in his last 66 trips to the post.

Haegg's time of 14:48.5 was far off his world record standard of 13:58.2, but his seemingly effortless stride captured the fancy of the crowd, estimated by officials at 19,000. He took the lead after the first 200 yards and, except for a few strides near the mile mark, he never was headed. Fred Wilt, formerly of Indiana, was the momentary leader.

Rice also was far back of his best time for the distance. He was clocked in 14:53.9, as compared to his meet record of 14:33.4. He suffered a stitch in his side on the eighth lap of the 12-lap race, but showed little evidence of it as he struck back in the last quarter-mile.

HAD TO FORCE HIMSELF

Haegg, who, like Rice, said he was not in the best of shape, said it was the hardest race he had ever run since he had to force himself all the way.

The American debut of Haegg was the high spot of the meet that saw all of the net receipts, estimated at more than $70,000, going to the army air force's aid society. Gen. H. H. Arnold, commanding general of the army air force, was among the notables on hand to cheer Haegg's performance.

Hal Davis, Olympic Club flier from San Francisco, turned in the only record performance as he and Bill Cummins, Rice Institute hurdler, won two events each. In winning his sixth and

Ted Collins Gets Football Franchise

CHICAGO (AP)—Ted Collins, manager of singer Kate Smith, was awarded a franchise for Boston Sunday by the National Football League, to become operative in the 1944 season. Collins will become a voting member at the first draft meeting after the 1943 season, the owners decided.

The petitions of movie actor Don Ameche for a franchise in Los Angeles and of sports promoter Charley Murray for Buffalo, N.Y., received favorable attention but were tabled until the December meeting.

VINCENTINE WINS

NEW YORK (AP)—W. L. Brann's Vincentine Saturday won the $25,000 Dwyer Stakes at Aqueduct, defeating seven other three-year-olds. Johnny Gilbert brought the son of Challenger II home a half-length in front of Mrs. Payne Whitney's Famous Victory. Prince Quillo, from the Boone Hall Stable, was third, losing runner-up honors in a photo finish. Vincentine raced the mile and one-quarter in 2:05 under 110 pounds and paid $10.30 for a $2 straight ticket.

seventh A.A.U. outdoor sprint crowns since 1940, Davis matched the meet record of 10.3 he holds jointly with Barney Ewell in winning the 200 metres hurdle and one-tenth of a second off the world 200-metre record only to have it disallowed because of a strong following breeze.

The west coast sprinter flew down the 200-metre straightaway in 20.2 seconds, one-tenth of a second faster than Jesse Owens' international standard.

Cummins came through in the 110-metre high and the 200-metre hurdles, winning the first in 14.3 seconds and the latter in 22.8—both by comfortable margins.

Ensign Cornelius Warmerdam, only man ever to clear 15 feet in the pole vault, did it for the 37th time in taking his specialty at 15 feet. He failed on three attempts to better his championship mark of 15 feet 2½ inches. His outdoor mark is 15 feet 7½ inches.

Bataan Surgeon Unnerved By Deanna

An outstanding hero of Bataan and personal physician to President Manuel Quezon of the Philippines, Maj. Bevenuto Dino, became unnerved for the first time in his life when he met Deanna Durbin.

Visiting California on a special mission for the exiled Philippine government in Washington, Maj. Dino took a brief recess from official duties to visit Universal studios. He met Miss Durbin on the set of "The Amazing Mrs. Holliday," which is currently playing at the Oak Bay and Plaza Theatres. After they had exchanged greetings, the Filipino officer fumbled for a personal card, to ask for the star's autograph. "My hands never trembled as a Filipino surgeon," the smiling major told Deanna and producer, director Bruce Manning. "They did not tremble on Bataan, nor during our escape from the Philippines with Gen. MacArthur. But they're certainly shaking now."

DOMINION THEATRE

The greatest array of stars ever to be united in one film is presented in "Forever and a Day," an Anglo-American production distributed by RKO Radio Pictures and now being shown at the Dominion Theatre.

Not only are the principal roles enacted by top-ranking stars but the tiniest bit parts are played by actors and actresses whose names are household words all over the picture-going world. Herbert Marshall, Charles Laughton, Ida Lupino, Roland Young, Donald Crisp, Ray Milland, Claude Rains, Edward Everett Horton, Robert Cummings, Kent Smith, Ruth Warrick, Jessie Matthews, Brian Aherne, Merle Oberon and Una O'Connor are just a few of the noted players who appear in this romantic drama of English life from 1804 until the present day.

'Orchestra Wives' Has Gay Tunes

There is something new in the way of cinema musicals and, just to prove it, 20th Century-Fox today brought to the screen of the Rio Theatre a delightful entertainment dish that has, besides the nation's number one orchestra and a superior cast, a sparkling story and tunes that set your toes a-dancing.

"Orchestra Wives" is the new arrival and it is particularly welcome because of the joyous presence of Glenn Miller and his celebrated orchestra, George Montgomery, Ann Rutherford and a galaxy of gay featured players, including Lynn Bari, Cesar Romero, Carole Landis, Virginia Gilmore and Mary Beth Hughes, not to mention the Nicholas brothers, one of the most arresting dance teams in the country.

'7 Days' Leave' Sparkling Revue

A torrid romantic combination comes to the screen in RKO Radio's "Seven Days' Leave," with the teaming of Victor Mature and Lucille Ball in the top spots of this sparkling musical comedy revue, currently at the Capitol Theatre. Both have roles made to order for their ability and personality. Mature as a musician enlistee who sweeps a society heiress off her feet with a well-planned "charm" campaign, and Miss Ball as the bored daughter of wealth who surrenders to a new type of love-making.

The music of two name bands, specialty acts from the stage, radio and vaudeville and hilarious comedy situations add zest to the high-tension actions played against the background of an army camp and smart New York night spots.

Cast Quit Early Owing to Dimout

Army regulations caused the old Barbary Coast of 40 years ago to "dimout." When 20th Century-Fox was filming its new technicolor musical, "Hello, Frisco, Hello," which is set in that famous section of old San Francisco, studio officials were warned that they would have to stop shooting at sundown due to the blaze of technicolor lights.

As a result of this ruling stars Alice Faye, John Payne, Jack Oakie, Lynn Bari, as well as other members of the large cast had to quit work at 3.30 p.m. every day. However, Director Bruce Humphreys was able to complete the picture, which is now at the Capitol Theatre, on schedule by using a huge black covering for the set. This permitted shooting of the night scenes during the daylight hours.

'Varsity Show' On York Screen

Particularly suited to these times when movie-goers are seeking the lighter side, "Varsity Show," Warner Bros.' film musical success of some seasons back, will play at the York Theatre. The picture opens today. Starring the popular band leader, Fred Waring, and his Pennsylvanians, "Varsity Show" includes Dick Powell, Priscilla and Rosemary Lane, Walter Catlett, Johnny "Scat" Davis and Buck and Bubbles in its cast. For many this release of "Varsity Show" will represent a first opportunity to see Fred Waring, his band and Glee Club on the screen.

Jerry Wald, Richard Macaulay, Sig Herzig and Warren Duff wrote the screen play; Dick Whiting and Johnny Mercer did the lyrics and music and Bushby Berkeley handled the dance numbers.

5th Victory Loan Opens in October

Drive for the Fifth Victory Loan in Canada will open last week in October—probably Oct. 26, it was announced today by E. R. Hanna, member of the payroll savings section, National War Finance Committee, Ottawa.

"I am here for the purpose of discussing with the local committee the results of the Fourth Victory Loan and to arrange plans for the Fifth," said Mr. Hanna in an interview at the Empress.

He spoke in glowing terms of the response by the Canadian people to the Fourth Victory Loan subscriptions which reached the huge total of over $1,300,000,000.

"Of that total," said Mr. Hanna, "$525,000,000 was contributed from the payroll savings and general sales sections."

Payroll savings in the Third Loan, he said, amounted to $93,000,000 and in the Fourth $135,000,000, the latter from approximately a million and a half subscribers. "That," he said, "represents a national increase of 45 per cent."

British Columbia averaged over 80 per cent in payroll savings, considerably above the national average.

"The marvelous response by the workers in the shipyards and other allied war industries in Victoria and Vancouver," said Mr. Hanna, "contributed greatly to this result."

J. W. Spencer is chairman of the local committee of the National War Finance Committee and F. E. Winslow is vice-chairman.

"The local committee," said Mr. Hanna, "is largely responsible for this splendid increase in Vancouver Island's subscriptions."

Fatal Fire Studied, Police Hold Indian

Moses Isaac Tenease, Shuswap reserve Indian, has been taken into custody by Provincial Police, who are investigating a fire on the same reserve last week in which two Indian women, Lucy Stevens and Emmerance Eugene, were burned to death, Provincial Police here reported today.

Husbands of the victims are with the Canadian forces overseas.

First HBC Chief To Be Honored Here

HBC Chief Trader Chas. Ross, first commander of Fort Victoria when it was established just a century ago, will be honored next Sunday when a stone to his memory will be unveiled in Pioneer Square, where he lies buried.

Ross has been called Victoria's "forgotten man in a forgotten grave."

Frank Ross, grandson of the trader, will unveil the stone, erected by the City of Victoria with the co-operation of the B.C. Historical Association, which did the research in connection with Ross' work here. B. A. McKelvie, president of the association, is expected to be the main speaker and will tell of Ross' contribution to the early life of this city.

It is thought Ross was the first white man buried at Fort Victoria. His grave was originally in the first cemetery, located on the edge of the Johnson Street ravine. In 1858 the bodies in that cemetery were moved to the Pioneer Square cemetery, for long called "the old cemetery" and now known as Pioneer Square.

The unveiling ceremony will be one of the events on the program of Victoria's centenary year.

Wilfred H. Lund Promoted Captain

Lt. Wilfred H. Lund, R.C.A.P.C., has received his captaincy overseas, according to a cable received Sunday by his mother, Mrs. A. H. Lund, 1533 Elford Street. Capt. Lund, who was a teller in the Bank of Nova Scotia prior to his enlistment as a private early in 1939, went overseas over three years ago as a sergeant, and has been stationed in Great Britain ever since.

He is the second son of Mrs. Lund and the late Major A. H. Lund, and his two brothers are also in the services, Roy, the eldest, being captain and adjutant with the Essex-Scottish overseas, and John, the youngest, recently enlisted as an officer candidate in the navy.

Fined $30 for dangerous driving Monday evening at 6:30, a city motorist was granted use of his car for transportation to and from work by Magistrate Henry Hall in City Police Court today. The magistrate had ordered the driver's license suspended for a month, but repealed that clause on the understanding the driver would use the car only for transportation to his job.

Stolen Certificates, Bonds Found in Room

War savings certificates and Dominion of Canada bonds of a total value of $265, reported stolen last November from Clark and Cordick when that firm's premises were entered and the safe blown, were restored to their rightful owners this weekend.

The certificates and bonds were found jammed behind a washbasin in Room 306, Station Hotel, by Henry and Kue Yuen, who were attempting plumbing repairs. They were turned over to the proprietor of the building, who notified police, together with names of tenants of the room at the time of the disappearance of the valuables.

Purse-Snatcher Robs Woman in Oak Bay

Theft of her purse, containing about $20 and personal effects, by a purse-snatcher about 10 Saturday night, was reported to Oak Bay police by Mrs. Florence Browning.

According to the police report, Mrs. Browning and a woman friend were walking on Newport Avenue from the street car. They were overtaken by two men, one of whom snatched the purse as he drew alongside the women and made off with it.

Italian Clamor To Get Out of War Increases Daily

By EDWIN SHANKE

STOCKHOLM (AP)—The Italian people want to get out of the war and gain relief from Allied bombings that have hammered preinvasion warnings home to Italy's industrial centres, informants recently returned from that country said today.

Short of food except in high-priced black market trading, short of sleep because of Allied air raids, and short of hope because they have lost faith in Mussolini's Fascist regime, the Italians were reported welcoming invasion or a separate peace as putting them out of their current misery.

As the invasion threat grows, it was said, the Italians talk more and more about their chances of getting out of the war.

"Many of them feel they are between two fires," these sources said. "They say, 'If we sued for peace today we would have only German bombers over our cities tomorrow instead of Allied planes.'"

(Rumors among the French civil population in North Africa Saturday that highly-placed Italian envoys were there asking for a separate peace were officially declared by Allied sources to be without basis. Axis spokesmen previously had denied the rumors.)

Among all the wartime confusion, Pope Pius XII stood out as the most important figure in Italy, the informants said here, with the average Italian looking hopefully to him as "the man of the hour."

EVACUEES JAM ROME

Because of the nearness of Vatican City, which leads to a popular belief Rome will not be bombed, the capital now is jammed with evacuees from other bombed cities, with lodging nonexistent and food scarce.

"If Rome is bombed there will be absolute chaos and catastrophe," one source said. "The air-raid shelters are inadequate."

Moreover, German officers who have poured into the capital were accused of feeding the black market by freely trading military stores so they can go on spending sprees.

An ordinary package of popular brand American cigarettes brings 490 lira (about $24.93 at 1941 exchange rates) and a suit of good cloth costs 6,000 lira ($340) in the black market.

(Reports from Bern said the Italians had ordered mobilization of six classes of women from 18 to 24 and 18 classes of men, from 18 to 36 and not in the armed services, for labor battalions.

(There were also reports that Marshal Pietro Badoglio was gaining in popularity and was considered politically on the upgrade.)

TOWN TOPICS

Considerable roof damage was reported by city firemen today following a fire at 1415 Stanley, Sunday evening. Later Sunday a grass and bush blaze at Hillside near Cedar Hill Road, was extinguished after an hour's work by firemen.

Hon. H. G. T. Perry, Minister of Education, and Deputy Minister S. J. Willis have left for the northern interior to discuss education matters with a number of teachers and school boards. Mr. Perry will visit his home constituency before returning here early in July.

A statutory offence charge against William Mitchell, charged with the murder of Molly Justice, was withdrawn in City Police Court today. Proceedings on the former were dropped to avoid prejudice in the more serious case. Preliminary hearing on the murder charge is scheduled to open Thursday morning.

Net proceeds, derived from a concert given by the Beethoven Choral Club under the direction of Prof. J. B. Hoffman, June 10, in the auditorium of the Chamber of Commerce, amounted to $60.50. This amount was turned over last week to the Queen Alexandra Solarium for crippled children.

H. Montezano, a soldier charged with dangerous driving following a minor crash with the car of John F. White, commissioner, was granted a remand to secure counsel when his senior officer was barred from representing him at today's hearing in city police court. The officer was not a member of the bar and could not be heard, Magistrate Henry Hall ruled.

Persons who requested extra sugar for canning but who have received no coupons yet, should get in touch with the ration office at the City Hall by writing. Those who received cards made out to someone other than themselves should return the cards. Local officials emphasized it was an offence to keep coupons other than those sent to them. Persons who have changed their address since they applied for the extra sugar ration should write the office giving their old address. Ration coupons will not be forwarded to a new address.

The city parks committee will take swings from Victoria West Park, where they are broken by vandals, and place them in the new playground at Cook, Higgins and Hillside, according to arrangements made at a meeting Saturday morning. The group also decided to recommend approval for a mobile canteen in Beacon Hill Park to be operated by the Red Cross Society. Oak Bay will be asked to contribute $20 towards upkeep of Gonzales Bay beach and merchants who undertook maintenance of flower baskets will be asked to see they get more water. The committee will meet again Wednesday afternoon to inspect a number of decayed trees and investigate playground possibilities, for James Bay.

20 Girls Begin Radio Air Courses

WINNIPEG—Twenty students began work today in the second Trans-Canada Airlines school for women radio operators. They come from all parts of western Canada and from various walks of life. One was a hairdresser; two were teachers; one was a telephone operator; and two were cashiers; several have never worked; 10 were stenographers. Two are married women with husbands overseas on active service. All have had some experience in radio work. And three or four have qualified for licenses. Graduates of the first school are now working on the line.

TCA has found it necessary to train women radio operators on account of the manpower shortage. The classes will last from three to four months.

Early submission of city resolutions for the Union of B.C. Municipalities' convention at Port Alberni, Sept. 16 and 17, was urged today in a letter from the union secretary received at the City Hall.

Resolutions must be filed by July 31, the communication said, adding the resolutions committee meet the day before the convention proper.

California Peaches, Grapes Arrive Today

The first day of summer was marked down Victoria's wholesale row today with the arrival of the first peaches from Fresno district in California and the first shipment of seedless grapes from the Coachella Valley.

Scheduled to arrive early this week are three carloads of California new potatoes and they are expected to be the last from the south.

"There is usually a good demand for the peaches and grapes when they arrive, though price is high," a wholesaler said. "All fruits are short this year and prices high."

Sauces, strawberries were scarce today and are expected to be scarce tomorrow, he said, because of the rain. Housewives desiring hull strawberries for preserving were urged to obtain them this week and the next as the crop is short.

A shipment of Okanagan Newton apples were received, this morning and the quality was reported still good. Local gooseberries are not plentiful and California cantaloupes are short but a shipment is expected in tomorrow. Watermelons from Imperial Valley and Santa Rosa plums are due in Victoria Tuesday, and a shipment of Yakima Bing cherries arrived today.

Supplies of local hothouse tomatoes were reported scarce but the market firm. The latest shipment of old crop turnips were received and next turnips to appear on the market will be the new ones. Local supplies of new potatoes are short at the moment. Local green peas are more plentiful with price easier and quality reported very good.

Plenty of Food For Animal Pets

Pet owners should not become alarmed over the difficulties of feeding their animals in these days of strict food rationing, it is pointed out in a bulletin issued by the Canadian Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, and made available through the Wartime Prices and Trade Board.

"Though many of the common and ordinary sources of food supply are not available, there is still plenty left to provide a sustaining diet," the bulletin says. Urging that pet owners use their ingenuity and skill in developing as well-balanced and variable a diet as possible, the Canadian S.P.C.A. offers the following suggestions as the result of careful planning by veterinarians and food experts.

1. Dry and dehydrated foods: Commercial pet foods are still on the market in the form of meal, biscuits, kibbles and dehydrated foods. While the animal protein has been slightly reduced in prepared foods, they still furnish a sustaining diet. They can be supplemented in various ways by resourceful persons. They may be moistened with pot liquors, mixed with cooked vegetables, mixed with table scraps and enriched with the scrapings from dishes in which meat has been cooked and with discarded and unsalvageable fats. These additions make prepared foods more palatable as well as increase their food value.

Britain Most Armed Of Nations, Says Red Cross Chief

Britain is more armed for total war than any other nation on earth, either at the present time or in history, Honorable Mr. Justice P. H. Gordon, C.B.E., K.C., of the Court of Appeal in Saskatchewan and chairman of the executive committee of the Canadian Red Cross Society, told a packed luncheon of the Canadian Club at Empress Hotel, today, when, under the title: "Red Cross In Action In Britain," he reviewed his recent overseas trip.

From the next-of-kin parcel plant, where 1,000 to 1,500 parcels are sent daily to prisoners of war, to the offices of the Women's Voluntary Services, where the personal belongings of 600 American soldiers who did not return from Africa were sorted and packed to be returned to their families, Mr. Justice Gordon described in detail the work of Red Cross.

"There are fewer hands and less material to minister to the needs of the distressed in Britain. Children still wear out clothes, but most mothers' hands are busy with the grimmer business of making munitions of war," he told his audience.

Support from Canada is still needed, he said. "So many people have remarked to me that the bombing in Britain has diminished to such an extent that our support should not be further required. Air raids are still of almost daily occurrence, during the time I was in London there were nine alarms."

Met in London by Maj.-Gen. C. B. Price, Overseas Commissioner of the Red Cross, Mr. Gordon made his headquarters at the Red Cross Corps House, and from there made tours of Canadian army hospitals, nurseries, clubs for Canadian servicemen, and made a complete review of the Red Cross work.

He expressed delight at the "set-up" of the warehouse and warehouse personnel, and spoke of seeing cans of fruit and jam provided by the Canadian Red Cross and packed in depots of the Women's Voluntary Services. A department of the Red Cross handling evacuation of children under five years of age have dealt with 3,917 children up to April 14, he stated.

"We are operating Maple Leaf Clubs No. 1 and 2 for men of the armed forces and Maple Leaf Club No. 3 for mothers of the fighting forces," he told his audience, adding: "These clubs are a veritable godsend to our men who go up to London."

SLEEP IN SHELTERS

"Proper accommodation is so impossible to obtain that the authorities have recently opened to members of the armed forces one of the very deep new air raid shelters."

He spoke of visiting No. 5 Canadian military hospital which was built and equipped by the Canadian Red Cross and stated that there have been many casualties in connection with military manoeuvres, particularly during blackouts.

Turning to the department of the Red Cross which deals with the education of prisoners of war, Mr. Gordon stated that 225 Canadians have received books to the value of $1,500. He told of special drugs being sent by air to Geneva when doctors in prison camps cable for them.

"In the departments dealing with prisoners of war and missing men, I saw the cabinet in which was kept in card index form the names of all boats sunk in this war, with the names of those lost or missing on them. It is a department packed with unspoken drama."

GREEK SAVIOURS

Mr. Gordon reviewed several visits made to representatives of the different Allied countries in London and stated that Dr. Cawadias, president of the Greek Red Cross, told him that the people of Canada had saved the Greek nation from extinction.

"Deaths from starvation are almost a thing of the past," Dr. Cawadias told him. "If the Canadian government and the Red Cross can maintain the present stream of supplies, and if other nations continue their help, there should be no more deaths from starvation."

Before closing Mr. Gordon described his two visits to the Queen and said she inquired about the aid being given the Allies, particularly Russia. The corridors of Buckingham Palace he found "cold."

Mr. Gordon returned to Canada by clipper. He was given passage on a bomber to England through the Ferry Command.

Head injuries were sustained by John Emerson, 937 Balmoral, at 10 today when he rode his bicycle into a truck. City police took the youth to the Jubilee Hospital for attention.

Tass Representative Visitor to Victoria

Nicholas Zhivaynov, Canadian representative of Tass News Agency of Russia, spent the week-end in Victoria, visiting naval, military and air force establishments and seeing something of British Columbia's war industries.

He said he has been much impressed by what he has seen and is more convinced than ever that Canada is doing a great deal in the United Nations' push toward victory.

From here Mr. Zhivaynov will visit the north and may also tour Alaska.

For the last year he has been stationed in Ottawa, going there from the United States where he had been Tass representative since early in 1939.

This morning he visited Premier Hart in the Parliament Buildings and on Sunday dined with Lieutenant-Governor W. C. Woodward.

Maj. Gus Sivertz, head of Pacific Command's public relations bureau, and Lieut. Clyde Gilmour, R.C.N.V.R., of the navy's public relations staff, accompanied Mr. Zhivaynov to Victoria. They returned today to Vancouver.

New Westminster Salmonbellies chalked up their first victory in three starts Saturday when they defeated Vancouver-Burrards, 15 to 8, in an intercity senior league lacrosse game. The triumph shoved the Fishmen into a second-place tie with Burrards and Richmond with two points each, two less than the league-leading Army Club.

Canadians Show Ability in Air Over Aleutians

Lorne Bruce, Canadian Press staff writer, is just back from a visit to Canadian airmen stationed in the Aleutians. In this story, the first of a series, he tells of operations against the Japanese on that desolate war front.

By LORNE BRUCE
AN ADVANCED R.C.A.F. BASE IN THE ALEUTIANS (CP)—Canadian pilots participating in aerial offensives to soften the Japanese in the Aleutians are getting the best possible preliminary combat experience and enhancing the high record won by the Dominion's flying men on other fronts.

United States officials in charge of combat operations in the north Pacific praise the R.C.A.F. pilots for their resourcefulness and speed in adapting themselves to the most treacherous flying conditions in the world. Four Canadian airmen were awarded the U.S. Air Medal soon after beginning operations.

Since late last summer R.C.A.F. pilots have been taking part in raids on the Japanese stronghold at Kiska, first from the U.S. army air force base at Umanak and later from the new Allied springboard at Amchitka. They went to these attack bases in groups from R.C.A.F. stations further east in the Aleutians.

SAW FEW FIGHTERS

The Canadian pilots who bombed Kiska from their planes met practically no fighter opposition from the enemy and little anti-aircraft fire, and probably because of these conditions regard their action in the Aleutians as only a taste of combat before going to Europe.

All of them say they want to go overseas to get into tough air combat, for which they have been training so long. They realize they have a job to do in the Aleutians, but to them it's not the real thing. The Japs are holding Kiska merely as a forward position from which to oppose possible Allied raids on Japanese Asiatic bases. The enemy is not on the offensive in the North Pacific.

But in expressing these sentiments the Canadians are likely minimizing both the value and the dangers of their job. The objective of their attacks is to pummel the Kiska Japanese so the inevitable American ground force landing will find as little resistance as possible.

The chief danger in the north Pacific theatre is the weather—the toughest in the world for

Visiting Victoria

LT. GEN. K. STUART, C.B., D.S.O., M.C., Canada's head soldier, chief of the general staff, arrived in Victoria Sunday by R.C.A.F. aircraft on a routine visit to Vancouver Island military establishments from his headquarters at Ottawa.

Early today Gen. Stuart left the Empress Hotel for Work Point Barracks, where he met Maj. Gen. A. E. Potts, G.O.C., and later both left the barracks for an unannounced destination accompanied by a retinue of staff officers and aides de camp.

Gen. Stuart is expected back in Victoria tonight.

flying. Snow, rain and sleet storms come and go in minutes. Fogs roll down from the snow-covered volcanic mountains to blot out a landing strip in less than a quarter of an hour. Williwaws—strong winds that blow straight down in a vertical circle—make flying dangerous. "We get four seasons in five minutes," said FO. Ronnie Cox of Winnipeg.

PO. Keeling Barrie of Edmonton reported seeing a fog follow a plane so rapidly down a landing strip that visibility was zero in a matter of seconds after the plane was in the air. The field had been clear when the plane began its run to take off. Another time a pilot got out of his machine and walked a few yards to talk to the ground crew. When he turned around a few minutes later the machine was upside down. The wind had picked up the plane, turned it over and set it down almost noiselessly.

MANOEUVRABILITY TESTS

Another hazard faced on every raid by Canadians is that the Japs' land-based Zero fighters are more manoeuvrable than the Allied planes because of their lightness and lack of armor. However, Japanese interception is rare and no Canadians have been lost in combat. Most of the Canadian casualties have been caused by the weather.

The first attacks by Canadians on Kiska were carried out from Umanak and it was for a 500-mile flight over water from there to Kiska and return that four of them were awarded the American Air Medal. They made the 3½ hour hop in fighter planes with a four-hour range. The raid surprised the Japanese and was successful.

It was during this operation that Sqdn. Ldr. Ken Boomer, D.F.C., of Ottawa shot down a float-type Zero—the first Japanese fighter to be destroyed by a Canadian in the Aleutians. Those winning the Air Medal were Boomer, Flt. Lt. Hal Gooding of Ottawa; Flt. Lt. J. G. Gohl of Boissevain, Man., and FO. Bob Lynch of Winnipeg.

Airborne time for an attack on Kiska was shortened after an Allied base was established last February at Amchitka, about 70 miles from the Japanese base.

ron, but as soon as possible an R.C.A.F. unit flies together. They usually fly to Kiska at high level, power-dive and drop their big bombs, then run back and forth sprinkling fragmentation bombs on enemy installations.

Sqdn. Ldr. Brad Walker, D.F.C. of London, Ont., said action in the Aleutians is not much like that over Europe because there is practically no interception or ack-ack fire, except when Allied fighters go in low to strafe ships and installations. The Japanese reserve their anti-aircraft fire for bombers.

R.C.A.F. pilots who have taken part in raids on Kiska include FO. A. W. Roseland, Calgary; FO. D. F. English, New Westminster; WO1. E. A. Merkle, St. Vital, Man.; WO1. G. R. Weber, Killarney, Man.; WO2. A. A. Watkins, Aylesbury, Sask., and WO2. N. Stusiak, Bonnyville, Alta.

THE MILDDEST CIGARETTE YOU CAN SMOKE

AN ATTESTED STATEMENT

Because They're Blended From Naturally Cooler Tobaccos

Many smokers confuse taste with strength. Actually the pleasant taste you find in a Buckingham comes from a blend of riper, more mature tobaccos and this satisfying taste can readily be distinguished from strength, as by proven test Buckingham is the mildest cigarette you can smoke.

Also important is the fact that the riper Virginia, Burley and Turkish leaves used in Buckingham are scientifically blended to produce a cooler-burning cigarette—a cigarette that is cooler on the throat. Smoke a blended Buckingham and enjoy the taste that satisfies, a mildness that is truly Throat Easy.

"We have to be patient, son—our day is coming when the war ends and we can give this kitchen back to mom and the girls!"

Dorothy Dix:

Dear Dorothy Dix: I am a bride of two years. My husband may have to go to war and he wants me to live with his mother and father. My own mother wants me to live with her and her new husband. My in-laws are very nice people. So far we have not quarreled once and I want to keep that relationship. They have children in their 'teens and I am afraid there will be fireworks if I go to live with them. My mother will be disappointed if I don't go to live with her and my stepfather, but, if I do, don't you think I might cause a conflict between them? I love my husband very much and love my mother, too, and don't know what to do. Please advise.

JUST A BRIDE.

COMPANION BETTER THAN IN-LAWS FOR BRIDE

Answer: My earliest advice is not to go live with either one of them. Stay on in your own little apartment. Get some woman to live with you for company, it won't particularly matter even if you don't get along

Indians Train Neck Muscles to Carry Loads on Back

Indians of Mexico and elsewhere are noted for their custom of carrying loads on their heads, but many different plan. They carry baskets on their shoulders, holding the baskets in place with a broad band which passes around the forehead.

Let us go, for example, to the little Central American republic known as Guatemala. There we shall find hundreds of Indians carrying loads in this manner. They practice the method from childhood, taking more and more weight as the years go on. They like to carry heavy loads to prove their strength.

What do we find in the baskets? All manner of things. Water bottles, striped blankets and several kinds of fruit are common parts of a load.

You can't go ALL-OUT IF you feel ALL-IN

These days most people are working harder, worrying more, sleeping less. This strain on body and brain makes physical fitness easier to lose—harder to regain. Today's busy living lowers resistance—increases body and mental fatigue. Overwork; busy weeks; irregular hours; worry—any of these may upset proper kidney action. When kidneys get out of order, excess acid and poisons remain in the system. Then backache, headache, rheumatic pain, disturbed rest or that "fired-all-the-time" feeling may soon follow. To help keep your kidneys in good order—to help guard against physical let-down—use Dodd's Kidney Pills, for over half a century a favourite remedy for faulty kidneys. Ask for Dodd's Kidney Pills at any drug counter. Look for the blue box with the red band.

B.C. Druggists Meet in Vancouver

VANCOUVER—British Columbia druggists assembled in Vancouver today for the 53rd annual meeting of the B.C. Pharmaceutical Association and the second annual summer school. As a result of wartime conditions, social functions have been largely eliminated from the program this year and the meeting will be primarily of a business character.

The summer school session commenced today and continues Tuesday and Wednesday.

Dr. Max Cantor, assistant professor of biochemistry, College of Pharmacy, University of Alberta, gave two lectures this morning, speaking on "Balance and the Vitamin B Complex," and on "Physiologic Conceptions of Sex Hormone Therapy." Dr. C. L. Campbell, of St. Louis, Mo., spoke on "How Druggists Can Aid Livestock Owners."

Tuesday Dr. Allen I. White, Department of Pharmacy, State College of Washington, Pullman, will lecture on "Isotonic Solutions." P. R. Mull, Indianapolis, Ind., will speak on "The Dispensing as an Economic Factor." Dr. Campbell will again lecture on "Pharmacists' Contribution to the Livestock Promotional Program."

On Wednesday Dr. White's second address will be on "Cosmetics," while a further address by Mr. Mull will be devoted to "Professional Pharmacy."

Arrangement for the summer school are in the hands of a committee headed by Austin W. Mac-

R.C.A.S.C. Band Gives Popular Park Concert

Servicemen and civilians in the hundreds sat under the trees of Beacon Hill Park, Sunday afternoon, to hear a concert given by the band of the Royal Canadian Army Service Corps.

Bandmaster G. E. Bower directed.

Martial airs, hymns, concert music and the ever-popular strains of light opera were chosen by the band for their hour-long concert and highlight numbers of the afternoon were Victor Herbert's "Prince of Pilsen" and Sigmund Romberg's "Stout Hearted Men."

Consider Problem Of Wartime Youth

Increased concern over the problems of youth during wartime occupied the attention of the Council of Social Agencies when it held its last meeting for the season with A. D. Corker in the chair.

The problem of young people who are being led from school into "blind alley" jobs, of young boys and girls who are being drawn from their home environments into urban centres where they have no friends or no guidance, were among the chief causes of concern to the council.

Members passed a resolution urging that the attention of the major social agencies be devoted to this problem.

Speaking before the group Miss Mary Gleeson, B.Sc., assistant professor of sociology at the University of British Columbia, urged that the problems faced by young people today are those of insecurity, much the same as in the depression, and require the same handling.

A job, a home and love are the three factors necessary to a well-balanced personality, she said, and the absence of any one of these can cause a maladjustment.

"The community must realize what happens when a child has to assume the responsibilities of an adult," she said.

The group heard a letter read by Mrs. K. Barr, from Mrs. Dorothy Spurr, in which it was urged that at least some of the social projects such as hostels and hostess clubs, be continued after the war.

It was also suggested that a

Army Show Stars Keen For Victoria Visit

Enthusiastic over the warmth of the welcome extended by civilian and soldier audiences all across Canada, members of "The Army Show," the big all-soldier musical revue which was created for the purpose of entertaining Canadian troops but is also giving performances for civilian audiences, have reached the B.C. coast and are eagerly looking forward to making their appearance in Victoria on June 29.

Organized for the troops and by the troops, "The Army Show" is much more than a traveling theatrical company. Every member of the personnel is in uniform and has been trained to fight as well as entertain. Regular camp life, which the entire cast of the show has been living since the start of rehearsals, is being followed as much as possible during the cross-country tour of the revue.

Responsible for all of the dialogue, the comedy sketches, and a good portion of the song numbers in "The Army Show," are Sergeants Frankie Shuster and Johnny Wayne. Designer of the costumes is Ronnie McCrae, and designer of the scenery—there are 16 scenes in the show—is Pte. Art Price. Contributors of the music and lyrics—aside from the Shuster and Wayne numbers—are Freddie Grant and Capt. Robert Farnon of "The Happy Gang" fame.

Cast of "The Army Show" includes such well-known names as the aforementioned Shuster and Wayne; Jimmie Shields, tenor; clubroom should be fitted out for elderly people in which they might meet for sociability and recreation.

Miss Joyce Cameron gave an account of the work of the children's committee stating that members had been studying the problem of children roaming the streets at night.

The report from the playground committee promised a wider extension of playground activities during the coming months.

Increases in the salaries of social workers in the city were urged, and Mrs. K. Barr was chosen representative to the Registered Nurses' Association.

ONE MINUTE NEWS ABOUT JOHNS-MANVILLE

Refrigeration Is "On the Move"

When Napoleon said that "an army travels on its stomach," he probably never dreamed of the day when refrigerated units would keep army and navy supplied with perishable foods. Yet today, fresh, healthful food is transported long distances to meet the needs of our armed forces—by refrigerated railway cars to camps across the country—by ships on the seven seas—by transports to the field of battle. Refrigeration is truly "on the move," thanks to the scientific advances originated in the laboratories of many large companies. As an example, Johns-Manville developed the insulation for one of the first refrigerated railway cars. Since then, J-M insulation has been used on thousands of such cars, as well as in warships and army transports. Today, when "food is vital to victory," J-M insulations help to maintain a healthful, balanced diet on the home front and the fighting front.

It is now illegal for any employer to continue to employ or to engage any man affected by these Orders, except under special permit from National Selective Service. Employees affected must report to the nearest Employment and Selective Service Office, and be available for transfer to more important work.

If you as an employer or as an employee, have not complied with these Orders, do so immediately. Get in touch with the nearest Employment and Selective Service Office either personally or by writing. Further delay will involve penalties. Compliance with the law in wartime is the minimum duty of every citizen.

(c) Every man born from 1902 to 1916 (inclusive) who has, since July 15, 1940, become a widower without child or children now living.

(d) Every man born from 1902 to 1916 (inclusive) who, since July 15, 1940, has been divorced or judicially separated.

Men as described above are covered if in any of these employments:

- (1) Any occupation in or associated with retail stores;
- (2) Taverns or other establishments selling liquor, wine or beer;
- (3) Barber shops and beauty parlours;
- (4) Wholesale florists;

If in doubt as to the application of these orders, consult the nearest Employment and Selective Service Office. But once again, if you have not already complied, do so without further delay.
